Podle Google News byla hlavní zprávou na světě v pondělí brzy ráno zpráva, že analytici zpravodajských služeb na ministerstvu energetiky dospěli k závěru, že globální epidemie Covidu byla důsledkem úniku z čínské laboratoře ve Wu-chanu.

Tento původní příběh běžel v neděli jako exkluzivní zpráva pro Wall Street Journal a byl retweetován mnoho desítek tisíckrát, odděleně propagován tak nápadně odlišnými veřejnými osobnostmi, jako je whistleblower NSA Edward Snowden a bývalý ředitel CIA Mike Pompeo .

Lab Leak Nejpravděpodobnější původ pandemie Covid-19,
Energetické ministerstvo nyní říká, že
revidované hodnocení americké agentury je založeno na nové inteligenci

Michael R. Gordon a Warren P. Strobel • The Wall Street Journal • 26. února 2023 • 1 700 slov

Pravděpodobně stovky dalších zpravodajských kanálů brzy informovaly o příběhu také a takové masivní pokrytí se sotva zdálo neopodstatněné. Podle rozumných odhadů zabila epidemie onemocnění Covid za poslední tři roky po celém světě zhruba dvacet milionů lidí, včetně více než milionu Američanů, a značně narušila každodenní život mnoha dalších miliard. Pokud by tato gigantická katastrofa byla způsobena neopatrným uvolněním viru bioinženýrstvím v čínské laboratoři, globální politické důsledky by byly obrovské.

Ale jakmile přejdeme přes dramatické titulky, které zachytily představivost světa, skutečná podstata poskytovaná v článcích se zdála extrémně slabá.

V roce 2021 prezident Joseph Biden nařídil 17 různým americkým zpravodajským agenturám, aby strávily 90 dní vyšetřováním původu epidemie Covid, a slíbil, že svá zjištění zveřejní. Na konci tohoto období 16 z těchto agentur buď nedospělo k žádnému závěru, zůstalo nejistých nebo rozhodlo, že virus byl pravděpodobně přirozený, zatímco FBI prohlásila „s mírnou jistotou“, že se domnívají, že Covid pravděpodobně pochází z únik z laboratoře ve Wu-chanu.

Nyní, téměř o dva roky později, se někteří nejmenovaní analytici zpravodajských služeb na našem ministerstvu energetiky nedávno rozhodli revidovat své předchozí stanovisko a přepnout svou podporu na teorii laboratorních úniků, ale učinili tak pouze „s nízkou důvěrou“. Příběh WSJ navíc zažehl celosvětovou mediální ohnivou bouří, aniž by naznačil, že jejich změněná pozice byla výsledkem jakýchkoli nových důkazů nebo analýz, natož poskytnutí skutečných podrobností o jejich rozhodnutí.

Během několika posledních měsíců došlo k obrovskému nárůstu nepřátelství americké vlády namířené proti Číně, v poslední době živené obviněním ze špionážních balónů a možné vojenské podpory Ruska. Takže možná někteří vládní analytici pouze vstřebali toto politické poselství a po přečtení několika knih nebo článků propagujících teorii úniku z laboratoře, které byly publikovány během posledních několika let, se rozhodli zasáhnout Čínu s laboratoří s „nízkou důvěrou“. obvinění z úniku.

Stěží se zdálo, že jde o druh vývoje, který by měl zažehnout globální mediální bouří. Dalo by se dokonce napůl podezřívát, že cílem masivního mediálního pokrytí bylo odvést pozornost spiklenecky smýšlejících jednotlivců od senzačních odhalení Seymoura Hershe o americkém zničení evropských energetických plynovodů Nord Stream a na zasedání Rady bezpečnosti OSN, které se nedávno konalo za účelem posouzení těchto výbušných obvinění.

Kromě toho byl hlavním autorem příběhu WSJ Michael R. Gordon, jehož notoricky známé, anonymně získané příběhy o programu jaderných zbraní Saddáma Husajna byly naplněny podvodnými zpravodajskými informacemi a úspěšně propagovaly naši katastrofální válku v Iráku. Pak v roce 2021 publikoval předchozí článek na titulní straně ve WSJ, který také propagoval obvinění Číny z úniku z laboratoře, a v té době jsem zaznamenal nápadné historické paralely se zbraněmi hromadného ničení v Iráku.

Tato situace v sobě nesla znepokojivé ozvěny toho, jak tytéž hlavní mediální orgány sehrály podobnou roli před dvaceti lety při podpoře podvodu o Saddámových zbraních hromadného ničení a propagaci naší katastrofální války v Iráku. Opravdu mi přišlo docela ironické, že jedním z hlavních expertů na Covid Trumpovy administrativy citovaných v tomto článku a dalších byl David Feith, jehož otec Douglas Feith byl jedním z předních neoconů zapojených do onoho nechvalně známého zpravodajského podvodu Bushovy administrativy. Navíc hlavní autor článku na titulní straně Wall Street Journal tím, kdo koncem května pomohl oživit teorii úniku z laboratoře, byl Michael R. Gordon, který předtím sdílel vedlejší větu s Judith Millerovou o většině podvodných příběhů o iráckých zbraních hromadného ničení, které nás přivedly do války. A počátkem roku 2020 byl bývalý agent Mossadu Dany Shoham jednou z prvních osobností, které naznačovaly, že Covid je čínská biologická zbraň, která unikla z laboratoře ve Wu-chanu, přičemž jen málokdo si pamatuje, že v roce 2001 falešně označil Saddámův režim za zdroj pošty Anthrax. Skoro to vypadalo, že členové staré irácké sestavy zbraní hromadného ničení se znovu shromažďují pro oživení.

Počínaje prosincem publikoval Will Jones z britského Daily Skeptic vynikající sérii článků nastiňujících zásadní důkazy týkající se původu Covidu a rychle vydal nový článek, který pojednával o náhle oživené teorii úniku z laboratoře.

Laboratorní únik Nejpravděpodobnější původ viru COVID-19, tvrdí USA, ale co doopravdy víme?

Will Jones • Denní skeptik • 27. února 2023 • 1 400 slov

O měsíc dříve účinně shrnul silný argument proti teorii laboratorních úniků, a dokud nevyjdou najevo nějaké nové důkazy nebo analýzy, všechny ty předchozí argumenty stále platí.

Proč je teorie úniku v laboratoři téměř jistě nepravdivá

Will Jones • Denní skeptik • 25. ledna 2023 • 1 400 slov

Také bych důrazně doporučil celou jeho předchozí sérii článků na toto téma spolu s jedním od Jeffreyho A. Tuckera, který provozuje web Brownstone Institute. Ty se zaměřují na mnoho klíčových faktických problémů souvisejících s epidemií Covid, důležité informace, které získaly příliš malou pozornost médií.

Jones a Tucker jsou prominentní spisovatelé v tom, co by se dalo nazvat komunitou alt-Covid, a jejich nedávné zaměření na původ globální epidemie bylo potenciálně velmi důležitým vývojem, o kterém jsem hovořil minulý měsíc ve velkém přehledovém článku.

Komunita Alt-Covid začíná odhalovat původ Covid

Ron Unz • Recenze Unz • 16. ledna 2023 • 4 500 slov

Možná někteří anonymní analytici na ministerstvu energetiky náhle objevili vzrušující nové důkazy o úniku z wuhanské laboratoře, důkazy, které za poslední tři roky postrádali všichni předchozí vyšetřovatelé. Ale pokud ano, čekal bych, že v médiích uvidím nějakou zmínku o těchto důkazech, které místo toho nic neříkají. Zdá se tedy mnohem pravděpodobnější, že pouze zvažili existující důkazy a poskytli jiný závěr o „nízké spolehlivosti“. A bez jakýchkoliv tak silných nových důkazů si myslím, že případ, který byl vznesen proti jakémukoli úniku z laboratoře, zůstává velmi silný, dokonce ohromující.

Existuje však také velmi silný důkaz, že virus Covid nebyl přirozený, ale byl vytvořen v laboratoři. Prof. Jeffrey Sachs z Kolumbijské univerzity strávil dva roky ve funkci předsedy Lancet 's Covid Commission a on a další vědečtí experti předložili přesvědčivý případ, že vlastnosti viru jsou velmi nepravděpodobné, že by byly nalezeny v přírodě, a tvrdí, že virus byl bioinženýrsky vytvořen pomocí americké technologie, přičemž vědci na oběžné dráze americké vlády později provedli velké zakrývání, aby tuto realitu zakryli.

Od ledna 2020 se veřejná debata omezovala na dvě hlavní teorie původu Covid. Většina vědeckých a mediálních institucí rychle prohlásila, že virus je přirozený a náhodně se objevil ve městě Wuhan koncem roku 2019. Mezitím silný menšinový názor rozšířený na internetu tvrdil, že virus byl bioinženýrstvím vytvořen v laboratoři ve Wuhanu a náhodně pronikly do okolního města a spustily globální epidemii.

Minulý rok jsem přezkoumal protichůdné důkazy a argumenty klíčových zastánců na obou stranách a naznačoval, že vyloučená třetí možnost je nejlepším řešením:

Myslím, že tyto výměny názorů ukazují, že dva hlavní tábory v debatě o původu Covidu do značné míry mluvily vedle sebe.

Svědectví poskytnutá Quammenem a Holmesem silně zpochybňovala možnost jakéhokoli úniku z laboratoře ve Wu-chanu a naznačovala, že to dokazuje, že virus musel být přirozený, i když v tomto druhém bodě bylo vzneseno jen málo argumentů; nanejvýš vyvolali určité pochybnosti o síle důkazů pro bioinženýrství.

Mezitím články a články od Wadea, Sachse, Bruttela a dalších poskytly silný důkaz, že virus byl umělý. To vše bylo obvykle interpretováno jako podpora hypotézy laboratorního úniku, i když bylo předloženo velmi málo důkazů o tom, že k nějakému úniku z laboratoře došlo.

Zjevným vektorovým součtem těchto protichůdných argumentů je však závěr, že virus Covid neunikl z laboratoře ve Wuhanu, ani nebyl přirozený, a to naznačuje, že veřejná debata byla nesprávně omezena pouze na tyto dvě možnosti.

Více než 30 měsíců jsem zdůrazňoval, že ve skutečnosti existují tři naprosto věrohodné hypotézy pro vypuknutí Covidu. Virus mohl být přirozený, náhodně se objevil ve Wu-chanu koncem roku 2019; virus mohl být umělým produktem vědecké laboratoře ve Wu-chanu, který v té době náhodou unikl; nebo virus mohl být bioinženýrským produktem amerického programu biologické války za sto miliard dolarů, nejstaršího a největšího na světě, biologické zbraně nasazené proti Číně a Íránu prvky Trumpovy administrativy na vrcholu naší nepřátelské mezinárodní konfrontace s těmito zemí.

První dvě možnosti byly velmi široce diskutovány a diskutovány napříč západními mainstreamovými a alternativními médii, zatímco třetí byla téměř zcela ignorována, a to navzdory tomu, že nejvyšší představitelé ruské, íránské a čínské vlády veřejně obvinili Ameriku z propuštění Covidu při záměrném biologickém útku . .

Opravdu, počínaje dubnem 2020 jsem publikoval dlouhou sérii článků, které tvrdily, že existují silné, možná dokonce zdrcující důkazy ve prospěch této třetí, přehlížené možnosti.

Loni v prosinci jsem diskutoval a recenzoval několik důležitých nedávných knih o původu viru Covid, všechny obhajovaly hypotézu laboratorního úniku. Všiml jsem si, že žádný z autorů – Jasper Becker, Sharri Markson, Alina Chan a Matt Ridley – se neodvážil ani uvažovat o vyloučené třetí možnosti, možná proto, že realita vydavatelského průmyslu vyžadovala, aby ve svém myšlení použili takový orwelllovský „zločin“ . .

Pokud by byl virus vypuštěn úmyslně, kontext a motiv takového biologického útoku proti Číně by nemohl být zjevnější. Přestože naše nečestná média nadále předstírají opak, velikost čínské ekonomiky před několika lety překonala naši vlastní a nadále roste mnohem rychleji. Čínské společnosti také převzaly vedení v několika klíčových technologiích, přičemž Huawei se stal předním světovým výrobcem telekomunikačních zařízení a dominuje důležitému trhu 5G. Rozsáhlá čínská iniciativa Belt and Road pohrozila, že přeorientuje globální obchod na propojenou eurasijskou pevninu, což značně sníží vliv americké kontroly nad mořem. Pečlivě sleduji Čínu více než čtyřicet let a trendové linie nebyly nikdy zřetelnější. Ještě v roce 2012, "Vzestup Číny, pád Ameriky?" a od té doby nevidím důvod svůj verdikt přehodnocovat.

Vzestup Číny, pád Ameriky

Která supervelmoc je více ohrožena svými „extrakčními elitami“?

Ron Unz • Americký konzervativce • 17. dubna 2012 • 7 000 slov

Po tři generace po skončení 2. světové války stála Amerika jako nejvyšší světová ekonomická a technologická velmoc, zatímco rozpad Sovětského svazu před třiceti lety nás zanechal jako jedinou zbývající supervelmoc, která nečelila žádnému představitelnému vojenskému rivalovi. Rostoucí pocit, že rychle ztrácíme tuto nezpochybnitelnou pozici, jistě inspiroval protičínskou rétoriku mnoha vysokých představitelů Trumpovy administrativy, kteří brzy po svém nástupu do úřadu rozpoutali velkou obchodní válku. Rostoucí bída a zbídačování velké části americké populace přirozeně přimělo tyto voliče hledat vhodného obětího beránka a prosperující, rostoucí Číňané se stali dokonalým cílem.

Navzdory rostoucímu ekonomickému konfliktu Ameriky s Čínou v posledních několika letech jsem nikdy nepomyslel na možnost, že by věci mohly nabrat vojenský obrat. Číňané již dávno rozmístili pokročilé rakety středního doletu, o nichž mnozí věřili, že by mohly naše nosiče v regionu snadno potopit, a také obecně zlepšili svůj konvenční vojenský odstrašující prostředek. Čína navíc vycházela docela dobře s Ruskem, které samo bylo již několik let terčem intenzivního amerického nepřátelství; a nová ruská sada revolučních hypersonických střel drasticky snížila jakoukoli americkou strategickou výhodu. Konvenční válka proti Číně se tedy zdála být naprosto beznadějným podnikem,

Za těchto obtížných okolností se americký biologický útok proti Číně mohl zdát jedinou zbývající kartou, kterou lze hrát v naději na udržení americké nadvlády. Pravděpodobné popření by minimalizovalo riziko jakékoli přímé čínské odvety, a pokud by bylo úspěšné, strašlivá rána zasazená čínské ekonomice by ji zastavila na mnoho let a možná by dokonce destabilizovala její sociální a politický systém. Použití alternativních médií k okamžitému propagování teorií, že vypuknutí koronaviru bylo výsledkem úniku z čínské bioválečné laboratoře, bylo přirozeným prostředkem, jak zabránit případným pozdějším čínským obviněním v podobném duchu, a umožnit tak Americe vyhrát mezinárodní propagandistickou válku ještě předtím, než Čína vůbec začala bojovat.

Rozhodnutí prvků našeho národního bezpečnostního establishmentu vést biologickou válku v naději na udržení americké světové moci by jistě bylo extrémně lehkomyšlným činem, ale extrémní lehkomyšlnost se od roku 2001 stala běžným aspektem amerického chování, zejména za Trumpovy administrativy. Jen o rok dříve jsme unesli dceru zakladatele a předsedy představenstva společnosti Huawei, která také sloužila jako finanční ředitelka a patřila k nejvyšším čínským manažerům, zatímco na začátku ledna jsme náhle zavraždili nejvyššího vojenského vůdce Íránu.

Všechny přesvědčivé důkazy pro můj scénář jsou od začátku roku 2020 volně dostupné ve zdrojích mainstreamových médií, ale jen málo z nich bylo ochotno je uznat nebo zmínit.

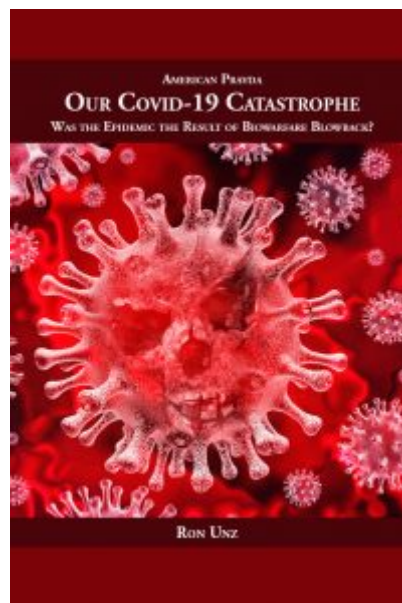

Moje dlouhá série článků představuje tento materiál a také jej zasazuje do kontextu skryté historie dlouhodobých amerických biologických válečných programů, které byly shromážděny do volně stažitelné elektronické knihy.

Covid/Biowarfare Series

Ron Unz • Recenze Unz • Duben 2020–prosinec 2021 • 60 000 slov

Zvláště bych doporučil následující články z mé série.

Ačkoli články obsahují mnoho desítek tisíc slov, některé z nejpozoruhodnějších důkazů lze shrnout do několika odstavců, které jsou většinou extrahovány z mého původního článku z dubna 2020:

Například v roce 2017 Trump přivedl Roberta Kadlece, který byl od 90. let jedním z předních amerických zastánců biovátky. Následující rok v roce 2018 zasáhla čínský drůbežářský průmysl záhadná virová epidemie a v roce 2019 další záhadná virová epidemie zdevastovala čínský vepřový průmysl...

Od prvních dnů vlády považovali přední Trumповi úředníci Čínu za nejhroživějšího geopolitického protivníka Ameriky a organizovali politiku konfrontace. Od ledna do srpna 2019 pak Kadlecovo oddělení provozovalo simulační cvičení „Crimson Contagion“, zahrnující hypotetické propuknutí nebezpečného respiračního virového onemocnění v Číně, které se nakonec rozšíří do Spojených států, přičemž účastníci se zaměří na nezbytná opatření k jeho tlumení v této zemi. Kadlec jako jeden z předních amerických odborníků na biologickou válku zdůrazňoval jedinečnou účinnost biologických zbraní již na konci 90. let a musíme ho pochválit za jeho značnou prozíravost, když v roce 2019 zorganizoval velké cvičení virové epidemie, které se tak nápadně podobalo tomu, co ve skutečnosti začalo v reálném světě jen o několik měsíců později.

With leading Trump officials greatly enamored of biowarfare, fiercely hostile to China, and running large-scale 2019 simulations on the consequences of a mysterious viral outbreak in that country, it seems entirely unreasonable to completely disregard the possibility that such extremely reckless plans may have been privately discussed and eventually implemented, though probably without presidential authorization.

But with the horrific consequences of our own later governmental inaction being obvious, elements within our intelligence agencies have sought to demonstrate that they were not the ones asleep at the switch. Earlier this month, an ABC News story cited four separate government sources to reveal that as far back as late November, a special medical intelligence unit within our Defense Intelligence Agency had produced a report warning that an out-of-control disease epidemic was occurring in the Wuhan area of China, and widely distributed that document throughout the top ranks of our government, warning that steps should be taken to protect US forces based in Asia. After the story aired, a Pentagon spokesman officially denied the existence of that November report, while various other top level government and intelligence officials refused to comment. But a few days later, Israeli television mentioned that in November American intelligence had indeed shared such a report on the Wuhan disease outbreak with its NATO and Israeli allies, thus seeming to independently confirm the complete accuracy of the original ABC News story and its several government sources.

It therefore appears that elements of the Defense Intelligence Agency were aware of the deadly viral outbreak in Wuhan more than a month before any officials in the Chinese government itself. Unless our intelligence agencies have pioneered the technology of precognition, I think this may have happened for the same reason that arsonists have the earliest knowledge of future fires.

Watch Video At: <https://youtu.be/hnLMn-uT-Zo>

According to these multiply-sourced mainstream media accounts, by “the second week of November” our Defense Intelligence Agency was already preparing a secret report warning of a “cataclysmic” disease outbreak taking place in Wuhan. Yet at that point, probably no more than a couple of dozen individuals had been infected in that city of 11 million, with few of those yet having any serious symptoms. The implications are rather obvious.

Furthermore:

As the coronavirus gradually began to spread beyond China’s own borders, another development occurred that greatly multiplied my suspicions. Most of these early cases had occurred exactly where one might expect, among the East Asian countries bordering China. But by late February Iran had become the second epicenter of the global outbreak. Even more surprisingly, its political elites had been especially hard-hit, with a full 10% of the entire Iranian parliament soon infected and at least a dozen of its officials and politicians dying of the disease, including some who were quite senior. Indeed, Neocon activists on Twitter began gleefully noting that their hated Iranian enemies were now dropping like flies. Let us consider the implications of these facts. Across the entire world the only political elites that have yet suffered any significant human losses have been those of Iran, and they died at a very early stage, before significant outbreaks had even occurred almost anywhere else in the world outside China. Thus, we have America assassinating Iran’s top military commander on Jan. 2nd and then just a few weeks later large portions of the Iranian ruling elites became infected by a mysterious and deadly new virus, with many of them soon dying as a consequence. Could any rational individual possibly regard this as a mere coincidence? The Iranians themselves were well aware of these facts, and their top political and military leaders publicly accused America of an illegal biowarfare attack against their own country and China, with their former president even filing an official protest with the United Nations. But although these explosive charges were widely reported in the Iranian press, they were completely ignored by the American media so that almost no Americans ever became aware of them.

Much of this same information is also effectively summarized in several of my podcast interviews from a year ago.

USAMRIID, a US military bio lab almost certainly leaked a disease in 2019

In mid July 2019 the CDC shut down USAMRIID, an army biolab that does research related to “countering biological weapons that adversaries may have”. At the time of this shutdown they claimed there was no danger to the public or lab workers. But in 2020 when a reporter received all communications and inspection reports between the CDC and USAMRIID from 2018-2019, the lies about the shutdown of USAMRIID came to light. And the seriousness and likelihood of a disease leaked into the community became clear.

USAMRIID wasn’t shut down because the CDC found problems during an inspection. They were shutdown because USAMRIID reported 2 breaches of containment to the CDC. Here is the report, go to page 80 of 124. The formatting is weird though so when you get to page 78 it goes to page 1 of 18.

Here we see the departure is labeled: serious, immediate action, violating 42 CFR 73 – 12b, and requiring a root cause analysis. The example of this type of departure given by the CDC is on page 3 of this form. A “Release that has the potential to result in a laboratory-acquired infection in humans without identification of root cause”.

<https://www.selectagents.gov/compliance/docs/FSAP-Enforcement-Severity-Spreadsheet.pdf>

And the reasons they give for the redactions in this point are labeled: 42 USC 262a (h)(1)(d). A law which says: (D) “No federal agency shall disclose any notification of a release of a listed agent or toxin”.

<https://uscode.house.gov/view.xhtml?hl=false&edition=prelim&req=granuleid%3AUSC-prelim-title42-section263a-1&num=0&saved=%7CKHRpdGxlOjQyIHNIY3Rpb246MjYyYSBIZGloaW9uOnByZWxpbSk%3D%7C%7C%7Cfalse%7Cprelim>

Page 80 of the of the inspection finding show that at the very least these breaches infected a lab worker at USAMRIID. But based on the CLCAC video on this shutdown, it shows that the a member of the community (an individual not in BPRP) was monitored by public health officials. You can see in the meeting here at around (1:12:00).

https://cityoffrederick.granicus.com/player/clip/4037?view_id=25&redirect=true&h=374afe5187c063ddb409a3170b35d7e4

So what this shows is that USAMRIID had 2 breaches of containment which resulted in the lab leaking a disease or multiple diseases to the community, infecting non lab workers.

Now you may be asking so why didn't we see this disease? And the answer is simple, we did, the same week fort Detrick was shutdown a retirement home less than 50 miles away from the base sent samples of an unknown disease to the CDC. This unknown respiratory virus at Greenspring killed 3 residents, hospitalized 20, and sickened close to 100 in this retirement home, all in the span of 2 weeks. But get this, this wasn't the only outbreak, the state of Virginia warned doctors and residents that they were seeing a far higher number of respiratory illnesses and outbreaks across the state compared to other summers. They sent this report out less than a week after the shutdown at USAMRIID. And although this Greenspring outbreak was eventually blamed on rhinovirus, a cause of the common cold, this doesn't make sense. For one, the common cold isn't deadly enough or infectious enough to be able to do this in 2 weeks. And second, only 4/27 samples tested were positive for rhinovirus.

So in summary, Fort Detrick leaked 1 or multiple diseases before the end of June 2019, resulting in infections in the surrounding community.

The Coof virus came from a lab alright — years in development (as was the experimental injection). But, it was not leaked, it was released as part of the ugly NWO project.

Seems they're trying to create closure regarding the origin so, it's going to be another FAT LIE delivered from federal govts about "a mere leak".

BUNK! As usual...

Under these difficult circumstances, an American biowarfare attack against China might have seemed the only remaining card to play in hopes of maintaining American supremacy.

Another “difficulty” is that the Zionists have been hogging all the other resources to use in their War Against Russia. The main problem with the Germ-War strategy is that the Chinese were NOT caught unprepared.

For example, in 2017 Trump brought in Robert Kadlec, who since the 1990s had been one of America’s leading biowarfare advocates. The following year in 2018 a mysterious viral epidemic hit China’s poultry industry and in 2019, another mysterious viral epidemic devastated China’s pork industry...

Trump has always been an ignoramus, and would have been easily persuaded that biowar was a great idea. The fat dumbass wouldn’t have known that the US has been throwing germs at China since the Korean War.

If there was a leak, it was from a Bio lab in Maryland in the USA, not Wuhan. But the WSJ is a Neo-fascist propaganda organ funded by wealthy Jews. In truth, America conducted a criminal biowarfare attack against China and Iran that spread to the rest of the world.

It is interesting watching in real time the stages through which the American MSM goes, viz: a claim is made and all dissent is denounced, then a complete about-face is made, and the claim is that what is now stated has always been claimed to be the truth. When the fact of US culpability cannot be swept aside, suddenly that will be what was stated in the very beginning.

@Carlton Meyer

I was watching that Sunday on YouTube, when the Algos advertised a Live Session Harrelson was streaming from his YouTube Page.

I had it Interview playing in the background (the Title Description claimed that he was dressed down and interrogated after the show – curious as to if Network/SNL Suits gave him a hard time) while browsing elsewhere(I think I caught the tail end of the Interview), then heard it abruptly stop when it entered the Post Interview Q&A from the Audience.

Thinking that they finished the Livestream and tried to replay the whole stream – I couldn't.

After several attempts, saw a YouTube Notification that this Livestream was Cancelled due to its violation of Streaming Rules.

The Livestream, the Vid, and even Harrelson's YouTube Page was nixed. Gone. Queries showed his interview with a Major MSM and 3rd Parties tracking WokeMedia reactions to Harrelson's SNL Monologue.

Too Woked.

I used to live in NYC then NJ through the Navy for my MICC Contracts/WeaponSystemsAcquisitions Mgmt Tour that covered Desert Shield/Storm. The Left Leaning City had Trump and Conservatives, and Corporations were Right Leaning.

We even had our Annual Service Academy Balls held OnBoard the Intrepid.

Right Leaning types and those who wanted Yards, Gardens, Parks, and less crowded areas – moved out to the Suburbs and Ex-urbs. I did as I was transferred to NJ Offices and Plants through an Organizational Shift in Territorial Mgmt. I enjoyed living in the Ex-urbs. Came back Post-Navy to live there for awhile.

It doesn't matter what the source was because if it was accidentally released from a lab, said lab or labs will continue to experiment and manipulate viruses in spite of public feelings.

What is more important is the lies and manipulation of facts by omissions of contrary points of view by the so called watch dogs of democracy...the mainstream media.

What has become apparent is any crisis is been used by anti-democratic forces in Western societies to further their agendas.

The West has been captured totally by corporate power brokers who now have ownership over our democracy...this is a new fascist movement, the old type had the figure head dictator now we have a corporate shadow government.

Old definition fascism: government ruled by a dictator controls the lives of the people in that society, and allows no dissent or disagreement.

Its time for Westerns to wake up to reality that elections are a waste of time because the government will be fascist in nature because we have allowed too much power to the few.

Ron argues that there has never existed evidence of a lab leak. His predicate seems to be that if indeed a leak had occurred, evidence of the carelessness would have surfaced. I differ. First, it is highly unlikely that a “patient zero” would confess, knowing he would face dire punishment. For example: “One day I mishandled a lab animal, violating safeguards. Five days later, I came down with a new kind of cough, and a fever. My strong morality brings me to confess.” Second, if a different worker in the facility had merely observed a mishap, and, not fearing punishment, reported it in detail, the authorities would have silenced the report and “disappeared” the mishap-observer. In sum, I cannot envision a scenario in which mishap evidence would actually come to light.

Thus, it could have been a leak. Absence of evidence not really relevant. But I favor a fake asthma inhaler, as I posted a long time ago.

This is pretty thin gruel. We are supposed to believe the CIA deliberately released an infectious respiratory virus because they thought it would stop at the Chinese and Iranian borders and not spread back to us? They might as well just release it here and let it spread until it got over there — same difference. Either way, it gives us no advantage over anyone. The CIA is evil and stupid, of course. But not that evil and stupid.

The only evidence of this harebrained plot is a media report based on an anonymous source claiming that U.S. intelligence agents noticed people getting sick in Wuhan in November 2019. So what? Just because somebody noticed the virus spreading early on doesn't mean anything about what caused it or where it came from. At this point, it's apparently common knowledge that it was circulating for months before reaching takeoff velocity in December.

Using molecular dating tools and epidemiological simulations, researchers at University of California San Diego School of Medicine, with colleagues at the University of Arizona and Illumina, Inc., estimate that the SARS-CoV-2 virus was likely circulating undetected for at most two months before the first human cases of COVID-19 were described in Wuhan, China in late-December 2019.

<https://health.ucsd.edu/news/releases/Pages/2021-03-18-novel-coronavirus-circulated-undetected-months-before-first-covid-19-cases-in-wuhan-china.aspx>

Nah. The CDC and NIH funded this Frankenstein's monster early on, and then Dr. Peter Daszak did an end-run on the later research ban by outsourcing gain-of-function work to China, and then Chinese Bat Lady assembled the evil Coof in her lab, and then some retarded lab worker (this part we will never know) left the wrong door open or something. That's enough evil and stupidity right there without getting the CIA into the mix.

It therefore appears that elements of the Defense Intelligence Agency were aware of the deadly viral outbreak in Wuhan more than a month before any officials in the Chinese government itself. Unless our intelligence agencies have pioneered the technology of precognition, I think this may have happened for the same reason that arsonists have the earliest knowledge of future fires.

Or for the same reason the BBC announced the collapse of WTC 7 before it happened.

Sure, a Wuhan lab-leak is certainly possible. However, there's no evidence of it. And none of the early Wuhan Covid patients were in the vicinity of the lab, which raises serious doubts about a leak.

There's also no evidence that the Wuhan lab was creating a Covid-type virus.

And Australian Virologist Danielle Anderson who was working at the Wuhan lab said she very much doubted they'd created Covid, their safety provisions were excellent, and there had been no indication of any lab-leak.

Anything's possible, but there's zero evidence that Covid was connected with the Wuhan lab in any way.

They were both attacks carried out on humanity by the same despicable entities that have perpetuated endless wars for over two thousand years.

Mr. Unz, I read thoroughly your article with the story (and quotes from) Danielle Anderson at least a year ago, and I still remember the gist of it. The gist of it was that Miss Anderson did not play any part in the real work of the lab she was visiting, she went to lunch with some of the big scientists there, and she wasn't privy to everything that was going on.

Now, I remember this from however long ago it was, due to the fact that it seems every time you link us to articles (such as the one Nicholas Wade wrote) that are supposed to bolster your theory, well, they simply DON'T. This was one of them. If you would be so kind as to paste in a link, we could all read it, or read it again, ourselves.

SafeNow is probably right on the money. I know about Chinese quality control practice from personal experience – been there 11 times, and one company (200 people) I know well was making, of all things, those medical face masks, but long before the PanicFest – back in '09 was the last I kept up with them. 2 more points:

About the title of this post: Then answer is “NO”, but that’s only because you have 2 premises in it. I don’t agree that 20 million people necessarily died from the virus. Common sense tells me that, yes, it got out of the labs in Wuhan.

Regarding China: The technology and the infrastructure work there is amazing to me too. The country could have been like the America of the mid-last-century. However, when you give nearly absolute power to one man, and he turns out to be a Totalitarian, you get some bad results. Between the almost cashless, phone payment economy, the health scores, and the ubiquitous camera usage combined with AI, I really would rather not ever see the place again.*

The usual “ten cent” China boosters will come on here, calling me names or whatever they got. That’s to be expected, but I do keep telling them nicely that there’s a lot I’ve liked about China, and I generally like Chinese people (just not too many more millions in America). Additionally, I keep telling them that I had high hopes for the place a decade ago – I called it the Wild, Wild East in ’07.

You may not remember, Ron Unz, but I urged you to go visit China about 3-4 years back. (You could search it up, if you don’t believe me.) I really wish you had gone to see things for yourself. Alas, the PanicFest was ginned up shortly after that comment of mine ...

An interesting pre-print that's been flying largely under the radar caught my eye the other day when it got shared on Twitter. The tweet thread connected it to the WIV lab in Wuhan through (what appeared to me as) a Six Degrees of Covid Bacon thought experiment.

Apparently some researchers found bio-engineered MRSA in China, with a gene spliced furin cleavage site tailored to humans.

What activates my almonds is that they found it inside Chinese agricultural rice sequencing data. MRSA has, what, a 30% death rate? And an engineered strain with traits similar to what we saw in Cov2 shows up contaminating Chinese rice?

It all smells very fishy, especially when the DoE lab leak “bombshell with no additional evidence” seems like the sort of thing you'd do to get ahead of any potential Chinese finger pointing regarding the newly discovered MRSA strain in their food.

Gutle Schnapper Rothschild, queen of the Jews, famously bragged: “If my sons did not want bioweapon lab leaks, there would be none”.

All the Khazarian Jews owning and working in media and refusing to cover this crime against humanity that totally dwarfs the Holofraud are the dog that did not bark. Jews love to brag about how humanistic they are, about how they care about “equality” for everyone. Yet all these Judaic Media proclaimed “famous whistleblowers” always stop before progressing to the most logical explanation for this biowarfare attack against the entire planet because the finger of guilt would end up pointing not only at their friends, but also at themselves. Clearly Judea is busy covering up for Bourla, Bancel, Dimon and all the other Jews who got rich off of these bioweapons, and exposing the vastly over-represented proportion of Jews involved in this operation would be bad for the Jews.

2) Dr. Mike Farzan, Discoverer of SARS receptor, Harvard Medical, Immunology and Microbiology at University of Florida.

His initial assessment of C-19:

-furin site is unnatural and likely man made

-furin site manipulation enabled human adaption and transmission

— Clandestine (@WarClandestine) January 18, 2022

Of course this ties directly back to the 46 bioweapons labs that the DOD and other ZOG-US departments were operating in Ukraine. This is why Russia HAD to invade, and it is Russia who is making the world “safe for Democracy”, certainly not ZOG-US, ZOG-Nato or ZOG-EU.

So anyone who is willing to squeel and kvetch about lab leaks but is unwilling to follow the rabbit hole past Wuhan is nothing more than a limited hangout.

A breach in transfer protocol, most likely in China, has always been at the top of my list.

Because of the incestuous funding, professional relationships and other political and organizational complexities in the bio-engineering field, any party who participated in any way in this research could be construed to be complicit in the Covid disaster should the details get out.

For example, the Americans don't blame the Chinese because the Chinese used American money. The Chinese don't blame the Americans because it was the Chinese who actually leaked the virus. The Australian scientist keeps her mouth shut because if she doesn't, she'll never work in the field again.

Given the hostility between China and the US and of all the things these actors could be blaming each other for, everyone is officially silent on the origin of Covid. That suggests either conditions where no one can build a case against anyone else without also implicating themselves, or no one really knows what happened.

Another very interesting factor was the persistence of the Chinese Zero-Covid policy. This had always seemed medically unrealistic. Therefore, I have treated this as an expression of national Chinese embarrassment and an indicator that the Chinese themselves possessed a deep sense of culpability in the matter.

Maybe one day the details will get out. I suspect the curtain will have come down completely in the West before then. Maybe it will even be the catalyst for a complete information lock-down.

It's coming soon.

The biowarfare-attack theory and the lab-leak theory are not mutually exclusive.

If the USA had wanted to mount a biowarfare attack against China, how would they have done so?

They would have wanted plausible denial. In one favorable scenario, the attack would have been effected by a lab escape for which the Chinese themselves were responsible. This theory is consistent with known facts: the US authorities knew that safety procedures at WIV were inadequate; and they awarded WIV contracts to produce dangerous variants of bat coronaviruses.

Even if the “pure lab-leak” theory is correct (i.e. the leak was not the outcome of a deliberate US attack because the US partners had no such intention), American financing and direction of the coronavirus “research” at Wuhan mean that the USA and China share responsibility for the outcome. The CCP is not telling us everything it knows – and neither is the NIH, which responded to a FOIA request with 292 redacted pages.

As you know I don't suggest that I have learned anything which makes your rogue actor's hypothesis impossible but the only real ground for suspicion that I would concede to you is that, until we know more in detail about the outbreak in Iran it is legitimate to harbour a supiciom that the US abd/or Israel had a hand in it. And if they did then ???

Unfortunately your eccentric choices of who to believe and with what weight are in evidence. Now Will Jones seems to have become your Colonel Douglas MacGregor of the Covid origins issue but without even almost h having been employed by Trump. At best he has just managed to make the same mistake about your "smoking gun" as you which I have explained many times. If you really believe that medical intelligence report existed why have we not heard of your efforts to prove it FOIA requests or otherwise? Is it perhaps because, without admitting it and undermining claims to have your theory taken seriously you actually understand very well that someone would now have leaked since the report was allegedly distributed to NATO countries, Israel and widely within government right up to the highest levels C'mon are you seriously suggesting that no one could have yet found a way to make money out of it?

I concede that your task of keeping your rogue actor theory from oblivion would be made even harder if you had to tell chumps like Will Jones "thanks but I'm afraid I have to admit.....".

Anything's possible, but there's zero evidence that Covid was connected with the Wuhan lab in any way.

COVID is the name given to the illness (allegedly) caused by a virus — the name given to the virus is SARS-CoV-2 — so one question is whether SARS-CoV-2 is, or could plausibly be, connected to work done at the Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV).

The answer is yes, such a connection seems plausible — I have posted comments about this before:

March 10, 2020 at 7:38 pm GMT

The comment above contains a link to an article that unfortunately is no longer available, and I was unable to find an archived copy — but the important text from the article, which refers to a 2008 paper published by researchers affiliated with the WIV, is excerpted and included in the comment, and one paragraph of this is repeated here:

This may be a separate SARS-Like coronavirus from what we're seeing right now, but the takeaway is this: first, that the strain from bats was not directly transmissible to human beings; and secondly, that the wuhan institute of virology was able to engineer a human transmissible strain with insertion of HIV DNA across only a small portion of the SL-CoV S.

March 17, 2020 at 7:06 am GMT

In the comment above I provide both a link to the 2008 study (which is still available), as well as copy and highlight text from the abstract, which I summarized as follows:

So back in 2008, researchers at the Wuhan Institute of Virology converted a SARS-like coronavirus (SL-CoV) found in bats, which was not able to infect humans, into a virus that could infect humans by changing its (spike) protein cover (S) to include an amino acid sequence from HIV.

I don't see why a leak from the WIV would also not be seen as plausible.

I have no opinion about the origin of the virus, but am inclined to distrust anything coming from the US government.

What has become apparent is any crisis is been used by anti-democratic forces in Western societies to further their agendas.

Any crisis being used by the-powers-that-be? Well, yes, because they most often create the crisis that they utilize to further their goals. Hence, Covid was no accident.

The West has been captured totally by corporate power brokers who now have ownership over our democracy

More specifically, captured by international banksters. Those who control the money flows are at the top of the food chain. The corporate widget makers are secondary to them.

So far I’ve never heard a natural virus being observed. With technique they can surely construct what they think is a virus, and that of course becomes a bio-weapon! Gain of function ready to use, certainly in the shots.

But then we have other effects apart from flu symptoms, such as clots and superclots, think embalmers.

Now thats not enough. Some say there is a replicating factory installed, causing auto-immune reaction.

If we sink deeper in small size we have the nano theories, with self-assembling carbon, remote-controlled by the ”G’s”.

Lot’s of work to do there.

If the so-called covid was a lab creation, it was a flop, and the whole thing was a psyop, meant to scare everyone into subjugation. Sane doctors and scientists that aren't owned by pharma money conclude that the flu was milder than most, but that it was the treatment given in the hospitals that killed people.

The Coof virus came from a lab alright — years in development (as was the experimental injection). But, it was not leaked, it was released as part of the ugly NWO project.

They've been implanting the word 'leak' into the public consciousness for a long time now. Every single time you hear the media mention the man-made virus theory they always follow the word 'lab' immediately with the word 'leak'. So it's been hammered into people's heads. "Lab Leak".

Once the claim of a natural origin for COVID19 is no longer tenable they can switch to the 'leak' alternative. And blame it on China.

The other obvious possibility, that it was man-made virus deliberately released, would seem to exonerate China. Why would China release a virus weapon inside their own country?

To see officially propagated misinformation like this succeed in corrupting the debate is depressing.

The virus was protected by Dr. Mengeles of BigPharama and the US government.

A sample:

... authorities are acting unethically by not recommending vitamin D for COVID-19. Not only did COVID-19 patients supplemented with vitamin D have lower rates of ICU admission and fewer mortality events, but they also had lower rates of COVID-19 infection, by 54%.⁹ In other words, vitamin D provided significant protection against SARS-CoV-2 infection. Meanwhile, throughout the pandemic, “high-risk interventions were carried out. Safe interventions, like vitamin D, and zinc — were basically ignored.

“SARS-Cov2” is the “novel virus” and “Covid-19” is the “novel disease.”

Their origins are not one in the same.

But...

It takes the discovery of the novel DISEASE to trigger a search for the novel VIRUS.

The origin of the “Covid-19” DISEASE is a bunch of smoke and mirrors which couldn’t have possibly triggered a real search for a “novel virus.”

The origin of the “novel virus” is the “virtual virus” whose “gain-of-function” took on the power of the “viral media” doing all that its masterminds’ desired.

I present a useful logical framework that accommodates the lack of direct information. The CCP will never allow an investigation of its laboratories at WIV. Without specific knowledge, the analytical tool available is based on Occam's Razor. (Δ)

- A- List the possible scenarios.
- B- Score them for strengths and weaknesses
- C- Use the most probable as the working theory
- D- If new evidence turns up, repeat A thru C

What are the scenarios? Please feel free to add to this list:

- 1- Trump ordered the attack
- 2- Fort Detrick / #NeverTrump rogues ordered the attack
- 3- Non-American Globalists ordered the attack (e.g. WEF, Illuminati)
- 4- WIV Lab Leak / science technique issue
- 5- WIV Petty Conspiracy / security staff stealing
- 6- WIV Grand Conspiracy / #NeverTrump rogues invaded WIV
- 7- Zoonosis

Applying Occam's Razor — I suggest that #5 is the most plausible. A small group of uninfected WIV workers (e.g. security, manual laborer) transported infected animals to the Wet Market and sold them. Non-scientist staff would be unlikely to understand the risk of stealing apparently healthy animals from the destruction queue.

It fits means, motive, and opportunity with a small cast of conspirators. Thus, it should be applied as the working theory, not proven fact.

Mr. Unz theory #2 “#NeverTrump rogues” led by a character like Bolton has a serious problem with internal consistency:

- If they are skilled & competent — They know the engineered, FCS juiced virus they misappropriated is 100% guaranteed to “Go Global”. There is no point in the complexity to get it to Wuhan.
- If they are unskilled & incompetent — They never would have gotten the virus to Wuhan.

All of the scenarios weaponizing and transporting the virus a considerable distance have a similar issue in this regard. There is no motive to move a “planetary attack” weapon vast distances.

If you wish to partake, the minimum effort to join in is presenting one or more possible scenarios (based on 1-7 above or new concepts) for comparison via the Occam’s Razor test. You cannot stand on the sidelines and throw stones. For this logical framework to function, you must contribute ideas with sufficient detail to be scored.

PEACE

(Δ) <https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/Occam's%20razor>

Oc· cam's razor ˈä-kəmz- variants or less commonly Ockham's razor :

Its time for Westerns to wake up to reality that elections are a waste of time because the government will be fascist in nature because we have allowed too much power to the few.

Exactly. This is one of the main accommodations:

The SCOTUS has passed down egregious decisions that abridge the First Amendment and show contempt for the concept of representative democracy. Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1976 and exacerbated by continuing stupid SCOTUS decisions First National Bank of Boston v. Bellotti, Citizens United v. Federal Election Commission, and McCutcheon v. Federal Election Commission.

These decisions have codified that money is free speech, giving entities of wealth and power total influence in elections.

There is no chance that this can be rectified by-elections. When the current government is replaced, strict controls over wealth and power must be enacted.

Unz says there is no evidence of a leak and that the western person working at that lab said there were no safety issues.

Before Covid, and when there was some other virus outbreak (cannot recall at the moment), the Chinese later admitted that it was mistakenly leaked from their lab.

Further, they were studying coronavirus from bats at Wuhan.

<https://www.technologyreview.com/2022/02/09/1044985/shi-zhengli-covid-lab-leak-wuhan/>

“The (Wuhan) institute holds a critical place in the story of the covid-19 pandemic. A leading center for coronavirus research, it was the first facility to isolate the new virus, and the first to sequence its genome. One of its labs, led by virologist Shi Zhengli, focuses on coronaviruses that live in bats, and has spent years sequencing viral genomes, isolating live viruses, and—through genetic mixing and matching—trying to understand how they may evolve to gain the ability to infect humans. Over the past 18 years, her team has collected more than 20,000 samples from bat colonies across China.”

Besides statistical modeling, there's no proof of airborne or contact transmission of respiratory viruses in a clinical setting. The Rosenau study one hundred years ago could not get Spanish Flu to spread in multiple clinical settings on a 150+ US Navy volunteers.

This gain of function research were likely how secret animal trials for the delayed mortality mRNA injectables were carried out. I find it hard to believe that this all started with Warp Speed and David Martin investigations show patents from prior research.

A few decades ago, Ralph Baric, “the spike protein architect” at Chapel Hill, one of the main players behind the scenes of the Covid DOD operation, was experimenting on rabbits to induce heart damage. The study animals were intravenously (unnaturally) inoculated with their poison and eventually sacrificed and hearts dissected and studied. In my reading many dozens of paper on coronavirus research, the infection of the study subjects is almost always intravenous. Even the so called polio viruses were injected directly into the brains of monkeys to show virulence.

The mRNA jab must've been under development long prior to 2020. Below, a paper about one of the known animal trials by one of the main “spike protein” researchers at Chapel Hill, associate of Fauci, Ralph Baric

An Experimental Model for Dilated Cardiomyopathy after Rabbit Coronavirus Infection

Animals were inoculated either intravenously via the marginal ear vein or occasionally intramuscularly in the thigh muscle with 0.2 mL of the 10³ – 10⁴ RID so virus stock.

@Ron Unz

With all due respect, Mr Unz, Dr Shi “The Bat Lady”, published a paper in 2017 describing her team’s gain-of-function experiments creating virus chimeras at The Wuhan Institute of Virology. Dr Shi used bat corona viruses as the “backbone” of the chimeric viruses, including the infamous RaTG13. Dr Shi’s chimeras closely resemble SARS-CoV2. Dr Shi is on record saying after COVID appeared in Wuhan, she “couldn’t sleep for three days”, worried that it was the result of a breach of containment of her laboratory. However, Dr Shi claimed she “checked” and (SURPRISE! SURPRISE!), it wasn’t one of “her” viruses. Dr Shi has provided zero record of her “checking”. Dr Shi has also admitted that “some” procedures were performed under BSL-2 protocols, the biosafety level of a dentist’s office. The Wuhan Institute of Virology does not have such an “excellent” record of safety. The United States ambassador, along with experts, conducted an inspection tour of WIV around the time Danielle Anderson visited and issued a report that stated sloppiness and poor procedures were endemic, including using unqualified personnel to conduct critical procedures. Regarding your argument that “none of the early COVID patients were in the vicinity of the lab”, that is entirely irrelevant. Perhaps the word “leak” leads to confusion. A breach of containment at a biolab is not like an oil drum leaking a stream of toxic material, it can involve a lab worker being exposed to the virus and becoming infected, thus becoming, without knowing it, a vector for the spread of the virus to other people outside the lab. The most likely scenario, consistent with all known facts of the case, is that one, or more, unqualified personnel, through stupidity, lack of training, sloppy biosafety, and perhaps being pushed by Dr Shi to work faster to save money, cut corners or made a mistake, were infected, then spread the virus around Wuhan in the course of normal, everyday socializing and shopping, for instance at the Wuhan Seafood Market.

The Will Jones articles I linked in my piece discuss some of these issues in considerable depth.

One reason people widely assumed Covid might have been created in the Wuhan lab was an April 2020 Newsweek article that cited a 2015 paper describing closely related GoF viral research:

<https://www.newsweek.com/controversial-wuhan-lab-experiments-that-may-have-started-coronavirus-pandemic-1500503>

However, an email recently came out indicating that the experiments in question had instead actually been conducted in the US:

To: Baric, Ralph S[rbaric@email.unc.edu]
From: 石正利[zishili@wh.iov.cn]
Sent: Wed 4/29/2020 5:06:34 AM (UTC-04:00)
Subject: conspiracy information

Dear Ralph,

Have you read this information? <https://www.newsweek.com/controversial-wuhan-lab-experiments-that-may-have-started-coronavirus-pandemic-1500503>.

I found several points misleading the readers:

1. Regarding our joint publication in Nature Medicine in 2015, the experiment was conducted in your lab. But according to this news, it was assumed that it was conducted in my lab. In fact I have been blamed by the peoples from the beginning of the outbreak because of this paper.
2. The above chimieric virus is to study a bat coronavirus with unknown function, which is not related to GOF.
3. The phrase "Wuhan would probably have had to start with a virus closer to SARS-CoV-2 than RATG13, which is within the realm of possibilities" immediately follows your words and make people think it's your comments.
4. In the last paragraph, I don't agree with you on the origin of the virus. Ian Lipkin has a very close collaboration with a lab in Guangdong province. My lab is transparent and open in bat coronavirus research because I have several long-term international collaborators. Each time I had a meeting with our colleagues within and outside of China, I reported some novel and unpublished results. We have nothing to conceal.

It's a pity that our science is involved in politic conflict.

Best regards,

Zhengli,

WIV's Bat Woman writes to UNC's Baric: Ralph, conspiracies are based on work done at "your lab" not mine

| We are supposed to believe the CIA deliberately released an infectious respiratory virus (sic) because they thought it would stop at the Chinese and Iranian borders and not spread back to us?

Why are we supposed to believe that “they thought it would stop at the Chinese and Iranian borders”?

| They might as well just release it here and let it spread until it got over there — same difference.

Exactly. And some (perhaps many) of us believe that that’s just what they did. (Most likely they took action to make sure that it got to China).

| Either way, it gives us no advantage over anyone.

That depends on who you’re referring to as “us” in this context.

| The CIA is evil and stupid, of course. But not that evil and stupid.

Well as I type this (((they))) and their loyal servants are apparently doing everything they can to start a world-as-we-know-it-ending nuclear war, so if they’re evil and stupid enough to do that I suppose they’re evil and stupid enough to do any lesser acts of evil and stupidity.

For this story to make much sense, one must know the history of the DOE and its roots as the former AEC.

From its creation in 1947, the AEC was always greater than the sum of its parts. Few knew that then – and probably fewer know that now.

One's efforts should be directed toward Berkeley, and Los Alamos, and Dugway, and Groom Lake, et al . . .

A growing sense that we were rapidly losing that unchallenged position had certainly inspired the anti-China rhetoric of many senior figures in the Trump Administration, who launched a major trade war soon after coming into office.

China's power is a result of its $677 billion global trade surplus, of which 1/2 comes from its $355 billion trade surplus with the US. Why risk the US population with a uncontrollable biological attack on China, when red state supported tariffs would have the same result?

Under Obama, factories were closing in the US on a daily basis, and moving to China. Corporate honchos would wring their hands and tearfully explain that they could no longer compete, unless they moved production to China.

Trump tried to put a stop to this through targeted tariffs, tariffs that would protect US manufacturing from predatory, state sponsored, Chinese companies. The press blasted Trump for the tariffs, because they hated him and his deplorables.

What kind of evil psychopaths would chose the global terror of a clandestine, unpredictable biological attack, over a perfectly legal, middle class benefited, trade war? The tariffs, overtime would, with a high level of certainty, trim China's feathers. Who knows what the results of releasing a dangerous, highly contagious virus would be.

Most likely the virus was accidentally released, a result of an out of control deep state funding illegal research overseas. Then, they took advantage of the crisis that their incompetence created, mail in ballots to remove Trump.

@Hypnotoad666

We are supposed to believe the CIA deliberately released an infectious respiratory virus because they thought it would stop at the Chinese and Iranian borders and not spread back to us?

We don't need to believe that. We only need to believe that they thought it would harm China more than it would harm the USA (and the wider American empire), and there is every indication that they did believe this. According to the neoliberal orthodoxy that is widely believed across the US government, the American economic system is robust and agile, while the Chinese economy is fragile and unresponsive, such that shocks could drag it down.

If the virus were spread by a group operating under this belief, the intent would have been to use the virus as a spring board to decoupling the Chinese and American economies, with the belief that the Chinese economy would be left in a state of permanent or semi-permanent malaise or decline (enough for the USA to secure a decisive and perpetual lead over China).

What actually happened was the opposite. The virus showed China's state and economy to be quick and resilient, while the American lobbyist bribery-state and investment-fund-planned economy were exposed as a house of cards waiting to be toppled by a stiff breeze. This would also explain the quick shift towards more open aggression against China in the past two years.

American strategists came to the realization that they would not be able to derail the Chinese economy so easily and that America is not fit to compete, so they have to resort to strongarm tactics while they still have an arm strong enough for it.

America is exceptionally strong in global propaganda, but one problem is that American leaders come to believe it themselves.

Just before the epidemic began, an international review had placed America at the very top of preparedness for any public health crisis, while China was far more vulnerable.

@Lol Cox

So what this shows is that USAMRIID had 2 breaches of containment which resulted in the lab leaking a disease or multiple diseases to the community, infecting non lab workers...So in summary, Fort Detrick leaked 1 or multiple diseases before the end of June 2019, resulting in infections in the surrounding community.

It's possible that something leaked out of Ft. Detrick. As I've discussed in my articles, there have certainly been many previous cases of dangerous leaks at biowarfare facilities:

<https://www.unz.com/runz/american-pravda-waging-biological-warfare/>

However, if something leaked it certainly wasn't Covid. The Covid virus is exceptionally contagious, and absent strong public health measures, infections double every 3-6 days, with cases multiplying by something like 100x or 1000x every month.

If Covid had leaked from Ft. Detrick in June or July, America would have seen a gigantic national epidemic by October or November. We didn't so it didn't.

Anyway, how would that explain how the Covid virus jumped to Wuhan in China? Or infected Iran's political elites a few months later? Or why Dr. Robert Kadlec began running his eight-month Crimson Contagion exercise in January of 2019?

A hypothetical Ft. Detrick lab-leak in mid-2019 doesn't answer any questions or solve any problems. I discussed it at length in a section of one of my 2021 articles:

<https://www.unz.com/runz/american-pravda-the-covid-epidemic-as-lab-leak-or-biowarfare/#promoting-a-ft-detrick-lab-leak-as-a-failure-of-nerve>

Exactly. And some (perhaps many) of us believe that that's just what they did. (Most likely they took action to make sure that it got to China).

Put it this way: imagine someone went to a guy like Mike Pompeo and told him that they had a plan that would allow America to gain the advantage over China using a virus they believed would derail the Chinese economy, but the cost would potentially be a couple million American lives, mostly elderly people. Does anyone believe Pompeo would turn down that deal?

@Lthl

I'm not a geneticist or biologist, so explain this slowly to me.

Are you saying that a Chinese lab sequenced a strain of rice and published the genetic sequence, but that the sequence data had some characteristics not usual in a rice strain, and that there appeared to be some contamination by a novel form of MERS, which appears to have been a lab created version?

If so, a few questions occur:

a) how confident can we be that the above is correct? AFAIK all genetic material is made from the same ten or a dozen amino acids – is it possible to separate the two signals with that level of confidence?

b) if so, does that mean a new, lab-created MERS is out there “in the wild” in China, just as Covid was in Wuhan?

On a more general note, one might think it far-fetched or maybe impossible that a nation might deliberately release a virus that might kill millions in order to weaken a rival. But Jimmy Carter, prompted by Brzezinski, armed radical Islamists in Afghanistan to provoke a Soviet invasion, and subsequent US advisers (I forget which one) said this was a great decision because it weakened the SU to the point of collapse.

I guess the jury is still out on who killed a couple of hundred people, both anti-government demonstrators and police, in and around Maidan Square in 2014, provoking the revolution/coup which overthrew the pro-Russian regime – but hell, it worked, didn't it? It got us where we are now – Germany and Russia sundered.

As the State Department submitted to Congress not long ago:

“The U.S. goal of preventing the emergence of regional hegemons in Eurasia... is a policy choice reflecting two judgments: (1) that given the amount of people, resources, and economic activity in Eurasia, a regional hegemon in Eurasia would represent a concentration of power large enough to be able to threaten vital U.S. interests...”

Does anything go where this “hegemon prevention” policy is concerned?

Covid-19 does not exist , it is an illusion, concocted by the WEF, UN Agenda 2030, the Rockefeller and Gates Foundations , the WHO, the CDC, etc., to terrify people into taking the genocide MRNA clot shot, as part of the depopulation agenda.

The communist/zionist Biden regime has let 6 million illegals into the country and not one has had to have the genocide MRNA clot shot, the elites are not afraid of Covid-19 because they know it does not exist, the 6 million illegals are proof of the scam and psyop that covid-19 is.

The China lab leak story is a diversion, just like all the variants , you can't have variants of a myth. Covid-19 is the flu, and colds and pneumonia rebranded to enable the scam and psyop. Covid-19 is the biggest scam and psyop and depopulation agenda in the history of the world.

So what caused the epidemic of novel pneumonia in the United States in summer 2019? And don't say vaporizers, because there is actually zero evidence of that.

Your protestations about SARS2 doubling time are not at all convincing. For one thing, they are based on the characteristics of the virus after it appeared in Wuhan. We know this virus mutates very quickly, and it has become progressively more contagious over time. Therefore, we would expect that a version of SARS2 circulating 6 months before Wuhan would be significantly less contagious.

Furthermore, the Ft. Detrick breach occurred in the off season for respiratory viruses. It was late spring, into summer, and so you must also account for seasonal variations in infection rate. Despite this, it's obvious that the CDC was spinning many plates trying to keep a massive surge in respiratory illness under the radar. There were the "mysterious" disease outbreaks and a much higher rate of overall respiratory illness. There was EVALI (the vaporizer epidemic). And by December, there was the CDC warning Americans about the earliest and most severe flu season in 15 years. Remember that without a test, COVID, EVALI, and flu are not readily distinguishable from each other. There was never any way to test for EVALI, and the CDC only began testing for COVID (in an extremely tight fisted manner) the following February.

Also please keep in mind that according to official figures, which you seem to be overly fond of, ~80% of initial SARS2 infections were asymptomatic. Meaning, for every one person in the US who had COVID symptoms, there were four people who silently carried the virus.

Sure, the deep state spoofed the lab leak in Wuhan to avoid culpability for their own epic incompetence/malfeasance at Ft. Detrick. But it wasn't really an "attack". And it didn't "boomerang" back to the U.S. and affect us worst of all because of our "exceptional" incompetence. No, it was here first. And the manner which the entire industrialized world fell into lockstep in their pandemic response suggests that they're all in on the cover up.

What was the first thing China did when they discovered SARS2? They created fear porn about overwhelmed hospitals, sudden deaths in the street, and a totalitarian "public health" response. This same fear porn arrived in New York City a couple months later – propaganda about hospital ships, ventilator shortages, and mass graves.

Why did the MSM ignore the Chinese propaganda for two months, only to suddenly take it up for themselves? Why didn't they immediately warn Americans and call for national prophylaxis? Because they needed to create the optical illusion that the virus spread here from China. They had to keep the propaganda off their lips for two months. The incredible contagiousness and unique harms of COVID were reported in China immediately. Yet the MSM spent months playing dumb.

“Why would China release a virus weapon inside their own country?”

They wouldn't. But when you act in collaboration with the West regarding gain-of-function, when you take money from them (Fauci was sending money to this lab), then you are always a sitting duck. You think you're working together, you think you're in the club, but you're not. When you shake hands with a snake, be prepared to be bitten.

Obama got rid of this type of research in the U.S., but I doubt he did it for benevolent/safety reasons. It's always useful to put your sh*t somewhere else, preferably where it can be used against a country who no longer wishes to play ball. That way the sh*t lands on their wall, not your wall.

This split/tension between China and the West has been going on for quite a long time now (problems in the South China Sea, the Indian border, Xi staying on, etc.) You could see it in the headlines that China was falling out of favor and that they were going after her.

You can always find someone who will make sure a lab leak occurs, provided they get a ticket to the West and a good chunk of money. There would also be Chinese within China working against Xi, wanting to take him out.

Or it might not have come from the lab at all, but purposely released in Wuhan by outside forces in order to blame it on China. I'd place my money on this bet.

@Dumbo

In fact, we all know that most if not all people who died “from Covid” had other diseases and in fact, died “with Covid”, and average age of death was in the 80s.

Ron, give up. The “virus” was a red herring. The real killers were the lockdowns, vaccine mandates etc.

Add to the lockdowns and vaccine mandates the blocking of early home treatment programs using various drugs, including inexpensive expired patent drugs like Ivermectin and HCQ. Hundreds of thousands of lives might have been saved if doctors trying to develop and implement such programs hadn’t been threatened with the loss of their licenses if they didn’t stop.

A better way to evaluate health threats than just numbers dying is years of life lost. Since most people who died from Covid were elderly people in poor health, years of life lost were probably not that high as compared to other health threats. Covid was treated by some as a disease as threatening as smallpox, a disease that killed large numbers of young people and therefore led to many years of life lost. I saw people here who said we needed forced vaccinations of everyone for Covid for the same reason we needed everyone vaccinated for smallpox, as if they were identical. During the epidemic, there was more focus on Covid than there was on deaths from drug overdoses, even though the latter was probably causing more years of life lost.

Just before the epidemic began, an international review had placed America at the very top of preparedness for any public health crisis, while China was far more vulnerable.

It is a badly presented graphic. It should have all been in shades of red. The U.S. had horrible preparedness, it is just that other countries were worse off.

America had a catastrophically failed exercise, Crimson Contagion, over 8 months that proved that the U.S. would struggle or fail fighting a pandemic with influenza level transmission rates. It is absurd heading towards ludicrous that conspirators with 8 months of failure in hand would choose an FCS spliced SARS orders of magnitude more contagious than influenza.

The only reason to knowingly release Chinese Coronavirus would be targeting the entire human population. This is why unknowing or accidental release scenarios are much more plausible.

Important point, that the US was reduced to biological warfare because it can't fight fair. Germ warfare has always been poor man's WMD. Instead of an industrial base, you just need some test tubes. Perfect for our underclass of tenuously employed STEM adjuncts in debt peonage. They can't do one pullup or fire a grouping, but they could mix up some banned biological weapons and mail them to China, or Congress. Lookit our elite shadow warriors, fucking Ned Price, that spindly dancing boy, his only hypertrophied muscle is his Adam's apple.

But I think it's broader than mere incapacity. The US is being outrun not just by advanced economies but by improving rule of law. The world has codified international criminal law and is well on the way to codifying its civil complement, state responsibility. US international standing is boxed in by principles that explicitly rule out CIA's standard dirty tricks. UNTOC sets out procedures for collaborative international investigation and prosecution of all CIA's favorite crimes. The impunity of the CIA command structure is under threat.

CIA's policy response has been to emphasize internationally wrongful acts in breach of jus cogens, especially where attribution can be concealed. The USA can't fight a war – they'll lose and then get tried or sued and lose their fiscal shirt. But they can sabotage unguarded assets and sneak away; or hide behind computers and interfere with them, and give it the studly name cyberattack; or they can infect and infest unwary civilians. Coward weasel shit. That's OK by CIA, they're torturers, they can't fight their enemies, they get SEALs to bring them in and tie them up and then they beat em up when it's safe.

The optimal solution might be military coup. The military don't dare fight their external enemies, but they could wipe out the CIA pussies no problem. And then they could go back to tank parades and zooming around at airshows and have an easy life until they croak in their beds from BIOTHRAX and BNT.

The origin theories should include also this theory: the origin happened thousands of years ago.

Thousands of years ago the common cold, a corona virus, and the flu virus, originated somewhere.

In 2020 these viruses were renamed as Sars Cov II and a disease name was created called Covid 19.

This renaming was justified using a fraudulent PCR test.

This renaming was accompanied by a massive propaganda campaign in support of a 'novel coronavirus' which in fact was just one of many common cold corona viruses and the normal flu.

The political and social reaction to this propaganda campaign, lockdowns, maskism, prevention of early treatment, and the use of the poison called 'remdesivir' as treatment, resulted in many excess deaths.

The rapid development and use of mRNA vaccines resulted in more excess deaths, both as a result of vaccine injury and because the vaccine reduced the normal immune system response to both the common cold and the flu.

Do you really believe the flu just 'disappeared'? No, it didn't. But the prevention of early treatment made the flu worse and also increased the danger of the common cold.

Thus the 'origin' question is in fact a red herring distracting from the massive evidence of a Psy Op that repackaged the common cold and the flu in order to change society and transfer wealth and also, perhaps, test the effectiveness various systems preparing for the NEXT psy op.

According to reasonable estimates, the Covid disease epidemic has killed roughly twenty million people worldwide

Pure nonsense.

Almost everyone who dies while infected with coronavirus would have died anyway in a matter of months. They found “flu” infections dropped off a cliff. Why? Everyone who normally would have died of influenza was dying of coronavirus first. At most they lost 1-2 years of life. If they didn’t die of coronavirus they would have died of rhinovirus or enterovirus.

Look, if you die of the common cold, you were already basically dead.

And if they had a real vaccine for the common cold, you would have been offered it a long time ago.

So no, a lab leak did not kill millions.

IF there was excess mortality, it was almost all iatrogenic. You can make a case that lockdowns killed millions. Not even difficult.

You can also make a case that they have no idea how many died because of heaven-defying levels of fraud. Everyone is lying about all-cause mortality. They don’t even know what happened. What you’re seeing is pareidolia as applied to fog of war. Did that swirl of mist look like a face?

Well, “millions” “died” so someone has to be to blame. Must be a face.

Covid was in the US the summer of 2019. What was thought to be the e-cigarette vaping illness (evali), which peaked in Sept 2019, was really the first covid wave in the world. E-cigarette users are 7 times more likely to contract covid-19 than non-e-cig users. They were the canaries in the coal mine.

The CDC was aware of it and covered it up (vitamin e thickener was the cover story) after discovering it was one of Ralph Baric's creations. They hoped to hide the numbers as a severe flu season and hoped it would be gone in a year.

When China detected it several months later, after it had worked its way to the other side of the globe infecting many countries along the way, the US decided to wash its hands of the now-pandemic and blame China.

To be clear, the virus had been silently circulating and spreading in the US since at least the middle of 2019, and since we didn't take any action until early 2020, that long lead time is the reason why the US struggles with such high levels of it.

With China, the virus didn't enter their country until late 2019. They detected it early and locked down early, allowing them to get it under control, which is why they had such low rates of it until Omicron showed up.

There were so many asymptomatic cases in early 2020, the supposed beginning of the pandemic in the US, because they were of people who had contracted covid months earlier and recovered on their own.

The US found every excuse in early 2020 to delay testing for this reason. It would have revealed the virus was already widespread in the US by the time China got their first cases.

The World Health Organization also monitored the virus as it spread in the US. Unlike the CDC, the WHO is an independent body, and when it refused to obey Trump's order to blame China after they detected it, he cut off their funding.

Whether or not GOF research was outsourced to WIV in cooperation with EcoHealth Alliance is irrelevant since there was never any leak from that lab.

It's why Trump held his covid meetings in high-security meeting rooms, the so-called "Sensitive Compartmentalized Information Facility" usually reserved for intelligence and military operations. This is the big secret the US is hiding about covid.

Covid-19 isn't the China virus. It's the America virus. The freedom flu. We knew this from DAY ONE.

Take “single-payer healthcare” and strip out the Orwellianism: Communist medicine.

Communism causes shortages. It is in fact normal for hospitals to be overcrowded during the winter. They can't change prices, so they can't adapt supply to demand. You can't pay with money so you pay with extra time or doing without.

Speaking of Communism, ~~public Prussian~~ Communist school makes the ~~students~~ victims think they are educated. If they're educated, anything they hadn't heard about before is something that hasn't happened before, right?

First time hearing about the overcrowding was transmuted into a first time happening of the overcrowding. Communist ignorance is quite useful to the Regime.

@Renard

It's flailing.

They've realized that, for example, DC is harming their material interests. The relationship is a net negative.

However, the reason DC is harming their interests is because DC is executing the ideology of the flailer. The flailer have to come up with some reason, such as an amazing conspiracy, to explain why their ideology is still good while DC can be evil.

It's basically Bolshevism vs. Trotskyism. "If Trotsky didn't exist we wouldn't need gulags anymore." Although in this case it seems the schizo internet commentators are the fanatical Trotskyists, and the boring and stupid DC hogs are the pragmatic Bolsheviks.

"The problem with Stalinism is that it's not Leninist enough." If they call a spade a spade it sounds stupid even to them, so they very carefully don't do that.

[O]r the virus might have been the bioengineered product of America's hundred-billion-dollar biowarfare program, the oldest and largest in the world, a bioweapon deployed against China and Iran by elements of the Trump Administration at the height of our hostile international confrontation with those countries.

But why would they not expect it to spread round the world? They'd have knew it was a bioweapon and not natural at all. So there would be no reasonable expectation by the conspirators that it would behave like a natural bat coronavirus outbreak and be contained within China. If it had it would have not done major damage to the Chinese economy. Mutually contradictory assumptions have to be made to conclude a US bioweapon attack is the most likely origin of the pandemic.

Perhaps the boss knew early on that that the masks made no difference and the wearing of them was merely performance art.

“Did a Chinese lab leak kill 20 million people?”

No. First, Pfizer et al tinkered with related viruses for the benefit of animal vaccines. That started around 1999. Then, DARPA and pharma corps tinkered with modified viruses and with gain of function for transmission to humans in Fort Detrick and several other places on the globe, until Obama cut overt funding around 2014. That led to the outsourcing abroad of the research even more, like in China and Eastern Europe. The sloppiness in Wuhan made the world think that this was a new thing and a location of “the source” , but the tinkering had already gone on for years, in several places worldwide. Many people have stated that the vaccines, developed and manufactured and distributed as fast as they were, were never really tested on humans. But is that true? Knowing pharma corps, covert testing is likely to have been performed on unsuspecting and involuntary groups of people, perhaps even in closely monitored hospital situations. And then there were the bought WHO types and bought expert scientists and bought scholars and bought legislators and bought politicians and bought media, advising the wrong things and making the wrong decisions. This whole mix of characters and situations is responsible for the deaths of 20 million people. How many percent were caused by the Chinese and in what way? What is a part of the development or just the sloppiness? Anyone’s guess. We don’t know enough details yet to pin sure numbers on it.

You are 100% correct.

I pointed this out earlier, but it is worth repeating (1)

Mr. Unz theory #2 “#NeverTrump rogues” led by a character like Bolton has a serious problem with internal consistency:

- If they are skilled & competent — They know the engineered, FCS juiced virus they misappropriated is 100% guaranteed to “Go Global”. There is no point in the complexity to get it to Wuhan.
- If they are unskilled & incompetent — They never would have gotten the virus to Wuhan.

All of the scenarios weaponizing and transporting the virus a considerable distance have a similar issue in this regard. There is no motive to move a “planetary attack” weapon vast distances.

Any hypothesis that does not start with “WIV as Source” (or another nearby facility) is in a great deal of trouble.

Even the Not-The-President Biden’s, soft on China, regime is having to admit that the WUHAN-19 virus is a product of a CCP laboratory.

This would also explain the quick shift towards more open aggression against China in the past two years. American strategists came to the realization that they would not be able to derail the Chinese economy so easily and that America is not fit to compete, so they have to resort to strongarm tactics while they still have an arm strong enough for it Exactly. Precisely the whole crux of the matter.

Furthermore, the window of, not opportunity, but merely “possibility” is closing exceptionally fast.

As in, if the [[collective West]] waits too much longer, it will no longer be even possible to slow down the Global South (with the Chinese as a central pillar), or the relative decline of Western primacy.

People focus on China, when what we are really seeing is the whole of our planet, and our species, rebalancing and history marching on. The whole non-West is starting to stir, groggily waking up from centuries of stagnation and sleep.

The collective {{ elites of the West }} want to put the rest of humanity back to sleep, or failing that, to bribe and intimidate quislings across the developing world, so that these may aid in keeping their own peoples down.

Just saying their plan out loud makes it obvious that the effort can only fail, and having failed, earn the long term anger and distrust of most of the human race.

The Age of Western Dominance was a needed phase of history, 500 years of dynamism that vaulted the world forward. But it's done, over, finito, kaput.

Yes, that is an unfortunate misstatement of fact by Newsweek, but is not exculpatory for Dr Shi. Newsweek is falsely giving Dr Shi credit for developing the “chimera building” technique at WIV in 2015, and writing a paper on it. I know, and I assume it is common knowledge to those interested in the COVID origin issue, that the “chimera building” technique was developed in The United States, by Dr Ralph Baric and team, and they published a paper on it in 2015. Dr Shi was part of this team, it was where she gained the expertise in the technique that enabled her to run the GOF chimera program at WIV. After this tech was banned from being performed in The United States, Dr Baric outsourced the work to WIV, a juicy favor to his friend and collaborator, Dr Shi. Dr Shi’s 2017 paper reports on the initial, successful, experiments in this program as carried out by her team at WIV. This is the issue, not where the tech was developed. It is undeniable fact that the epidemic started in Wuhan during a period when Dr Shi and team were conducting a program using this technique, and had produced virus chimeras closely resembling SARS-CoV2. Given this undeniable fact, it is impossible to avoid considering a breach of containment scenario at The Wuhan Institute of Virology as the cause of the COVID epidemic.

They had already developed the mRNA technology, but this new technology was in need of a coronavirus. The combination of the two were only to be used when absolutely necessary, like when a country wasn't playing ball.

I think they slapped China across the face as a warning to not step out of line. "Look what happens to countries that don't follow our orders! We made you; we own you!" And initially they didn't blame it on China (because they went after Trump when he did blame China), but China has fallen out of favor with the West, so now they're running with the "lab leak" story.

As is now VERY clear, China has outperformed the USA and the West in every parameter, economic, social, intellectual, spiritual, you name it. This, of course, is an immense psychological shock and affront to Western elites who regard themselves, following the Judaic cult, as God's Chosen, and a superior race and civilization to all others, as one can see as the loathsome corpse maggot Soros turns his Jabba gaze on India, which actually thought that it was an 'honorary' White regime.

The ascendancy of China has sent the Western elites, particularly in the Five Eyes, quite insane with rage and affront. It has been bubbling up in Austfailia since about 2014, and is viscerally and nakedly rooted in race and cultural hatred. The new 'Labor' regime has set out to be at least as belligerent as the previous psychopaths, because loyalty to the Five Eyes 'Gods Upon the Earth' is non-negotiable. We still trade with China, accepting fifty billion a year in surpluses, 1.4 million rich, peaceable, tourists per year, and tens of thousands of students, but, at the same time treacherously plot to destroy China, which, either way, win or lose, would end this country, so very strong is race hatred here, in the right circles. Trump 2024 is shaping up quite nicely. The recent rollout features tariffs as a key component: (1)

The Golden Arrow – President Trump Announces Economic Agenda 47 Which Includes “Universal Baseline Tariffs”

To achieve this goal, we will phase in a system of universal, baseline tariffs on most foreign products. On top of this, higher tariffs will increase incrementally depending on how much individual foreign countries devalue their currency.

They devalue their currency to take advantage of the United States, and they subsidize their industries, or otherwise engage in trade cheating and abuse. And they do it now like never before, and we had it largely stopped and it was going to be stopped completely within less than a year.

We will revoke China’s Most Favored Nation trade status, and adopt a 4-year plan to phase out all Chinese imports of essential goods—everything from electronics to steel to pharmaceuticals. This will include strong protections to ensure China cannot circumvent restrictions by passing goods through conduit countries—countries that don’t make a product, but all of a sudden they’re making a lot of the product, it comes right through China, right out of China, and right into our country.

We will also adopt new rules to stop U.S. companies from pouring investments into China, and to stop China from buying up America, allowing all of those investments that clearly serve American interests. We’re not going to allow bad things to happen to our country anymore. And we will eliminate federal contracts for any company that outsources to China.

Gradually decoupling from CCP exploitation is a key driver for MAGA Reindustrialization. Growing the U.S. economy is a necessity.

Because they are stupid as well as Evil and vicious. And because this is a multi-faceted project. As well as the bio-warfare attack on China, the prepared mRNA gene shots, with their altered spike protein, its lengthy residence inside the body, its cytotoxic properties, and the poisonous PEG nano-particles used to transport it into cells, are part of a population reduction program.

This has been mooted by the parasite elites for decades, even centuries. At the moment it looks like repeated gene therapy injections will derange the immune systems, constantly attack every organ in the body with spike protein, with damage accumulating, particularly in the susceptible, and reduce fertility, perhaps massively. Who gets to be 'Baby Diego'? And, finally, the false accusation of Chinese culpability is the casus belli that the Evil Rive Eyes psychopaths have been searching for. With the complicity of the Evil scum vermin of the Western MSM, where the names Ralph Baric, Kadlec, MetaBiota, AMRIID, and the facts of the USA's GIGANTIC worldwide bio-warfare apparatus, its previous uses of bio-warfare, its experiments in bio-warfare at home and abroad, Baric's 'research' on coronavirus induced myocarditis in rabbits from the late 80s, the USA's vetoing of the Bio-weapons Treaty inspection regime (alone) etc NEVER appear, but HYSTERICAL race hatred for China is ubiquitous, we are being driven to Armageddon. And half the psychopathic demons behind this rush to species annihilation WANT it to occur, because of their perverted 'religion' and its lust for the End Times.

America is exceptionally strong in global propaganda, but one problem is that American leaders come to believe it themselves.

I used to think there was a core of super-smart, well-informed people who made decisions based on cold calculation (even if their goals were misguided), and who then used the machinery of mass propaganda to dupe the public into supporting their decisions based on some pretext like “making the world safe for democracy,” or preventing the latest row of dominos from getting knocked over by the latest Hitler.

But after the last three years (since 2016, actually), I now tend to believe the whole military and government is just a confederacy of self-deluded Groupthinking midwits. (Operating, as always, with a big assist from whatever coalition of self-interested grifters are due to profit from the decision). I still think your “deliberate spread” thesis is interesting but speculative. But, then again . . . there was Operation Sea Spray:

Beginning on September 26, 1950, the crew of a U.S. Navy minesweeper ship spent six days spraying Serratia marcescens into the air about two miles off the northern California coast. The project was called “Operation Sea Spray,” and its aim was to determine the susceptibility of a big city like San Francisco to a bioweapon attack by terrorists.

In the following days, the military took samples at 43 sites to track the bacteria’s spread, and found that it had quickly infested not only the city but surrounding suburbs as well. During the test, residents of these areas would have inhaled millions of bacterial spores. Clearly, their test showed, San Francisco and cities with similar size and topography could face germ warfare threats. “In this regard, the experiment was a success,” writes Kreston.

But there was a catch. At the time, the US military thought that Serratia couldn’t harm humans. The bug was mostly known for the red spots it produced on infested foods and had not been widely linked to clinical conditions. That changed when one week after the test, 11 local residents checked into a Stanford University Hospital complaining of urinary tract infections.

Upon testing their pee, doctors noticed that the pathogen had a red hue. “Infection with Serratia was so rare that the outbreak was extensively investigated by the University to identify the origins of this scarlet letter bug,” writes Kreston. After scientists identified the microbe, the cases collectively became the first recorded outbreak of Serratia marcescens. One patient, a man named Edward Nevin who was recovering from prostate surgery, died, and some have suggested that the release forever changed the area’s microbial ecology, as Bernadette Tansey pointed out for the San Francisco Chronicle in 2004.

The military had performed similar tests in other cities across the country over the next two decades, until Richard Nixon halted all germ warfare research in 1969. The San Francisco experiment didn’t become public knowledge until 1976.

Incidentally, what’s really terrifying is that anyone can buy a home DIY CRISPR kit and take a shot at making their own “gain of function” viruses.

Regarding the 'bioweapon' hypothesis, and what may have motivated its use, I don't think US tariffs will affect the rise of China as an industrial and military superpower, and therefore a threat to US hegemony (a greater threat than Russia, which is far too small economically).

Trade with the US is now significantly less than 20% of China's total foreign trade (link) — and this is falling annually: trade with the US will soon be less than 15% of total Chinese foreign exports.

@Ron Unz

The increasing misery and impoverishment of large sections of the American population naturally left these voters searching for a convenient scapegoat, and the prosperous, rising Chinese made a perfect target.

When someone as intelligent as you says something as silly as this, the phrase WTF? comes irresistably to mind.

Obviously the increasing misery and impoverishment of large sections of the American population and the prosperous, rising Chinese economy go together. They're two parts of the same globalist push. If anyone is being scapegoated it's the people of the United States, and not just the United States, that the hostile elite have made miserable.

It's hardly a secret that American business and government exported the US economy to China (and India), while importing Latino labor, exactly so it could impoverish the population of a country it is openly and unapologetically destroying. They've even extended that misery to nuking entire towns of the same demographic they've already made miserable, thereby increasing their harvest of pain.

What is happening couldn't be more obvious.

The hostile elite, or what I refer to as Supremacy Inc.* has sucked the lifeblood out of the United States and is now destroying the evidence, as it were, by destroying the country. Meanwhile, Israel, the beating heart of Supremacy Inc. is doing just fine and its relationship with China and The One Belt and Road Initiative continues apace.

Put bluntly, Supremacy Inc. and The CCP are pretty much splitting up the world between them. And by the world is obviously meant all human and natural resources. Certainly, neither one has any love for the host populations of Western Europe and North America (The Land of Whiteness).

In short, both would be more than happy to team up long enough to destroy Western Civilization once and for all. And that is exactly what they're doing.

*Saying Jewish Supremacy Inc. is redundant, since they're the only real supremacist.

As always, it's very difficult to know what's going on. I'm not a virologist but I do know something about the topic, and I find the arguments of deliberate design compelling.

Could even our utterly corrupt and amoral ruling class do this deliberately? I'd like to say I am skeptical that even they would do something that destructive/dumb, but who knows. I would not put anything past an elite that cheerfully blows up and trashes countries that are no threat (like Libya) just for kicks.

My experience in biolabs gives me a strong bias in favor of accidental release. But even if not deliberate, a lab leak is at least willful negligence. And these sorts of dangerous and poorly controlled experiments are going on, I don't know any specifics but I do know scientists and I know the incentives to do this and I know we are not clamping down on it.

Of course, there is a kind of fourth option. The researchers in Wuhan could have been collecting bats with various infections, and bringing them into the middle of a crowded city, and one of the bats bit a researcher or some fluids splashed into an eye etc. That would still count as a lab leak (it would likely not have happened without the lab bringing these materials into a city), but not direct engineering of the virus per se.

“Tariffs are a tax on American consumers” – OK sure. But so are sales taxes, and income taxes, and property taxes, and not getting paid more than 0.01% interest on your savings, etc.etc.

One notes that from shortly after the founding to about 1960 (ish), the United States was strongly protectionist. For a long time foreign trade was less than 5% of the economy – I am only enough to remember when Gross National Product was the same as Gross Domestic Product. With tariffs, the United States went from a backwards agricultural colony to the greatest military and economic power in the world, and with the highest standard of living. All four presidents carved on Mount Rushmore were outright protectionists, and pretty much all of the others until Bill Clinton came along. So don't knock tariffs per se.

However, the kind of tariffs that are being proposed now are not the ones that helped the US develop. In the past, tariffs protected domestic industry, but there was vibrant competition and free enterprise within the country. A lot of what is being proposed now is that corporations that shipped their factories to China, are going to have the US taxpayer directly pay to build them new factories in the US, and increasingly these will be de-facto monopolies – this is more like Stalinism than what originally built the United States. Remember: it's not private profit that promotes productivity, but competition.

Libertarian BS.

A tariff can simply lead to Americans buying less Chinese crap that they didn't need in the first place.

Judging from the carts at Walmart that could be beneficial.

China has tariffs on numerous US goods so why don't you go tell your idealized authoritarian state how thick they are.

The mainland Chinese modernised so quickly within a few decades, basic common sense hygiene most don't comprehend. They will do things I won't mention so as to not revolt readers. At Wuhan, their top scientists would likely be very aware. But the vigilance required lowly lab technicians. If warned about it, they would most likely laugh. Laughter is covering up embarrassment in China.

@Alrenous

| Communist medicine.

You cannot be more wrong. In France it is what you are calling “communist medicine” which is being destroyed. To give place for private, lucrative medicine and hospitals. Often with US investments like Blackrock. Thus the number of beds is shrinking, doctors and nurses are forbidden to work if they did not take the Pfizer jabs. The shortage are created by the government which is far from communist, quite the contrary: corporate friendly.

As a counter example, communist Chinese created hospitals with beds in some 10 days when necessary.

Rupert Murdoch is Jewish. His father was a famous Australian journalist who first made his fortune by marrying into the wealthy Australian Jewish community. Rupert has a sentimental attachment to the Jewish community and Israel that menschs at least of his generation characteristically have. It was well known once a media outlet is purchased by the Murdoch family, objective reporting on such issues as Holocaust scepticism and Jewish power becomes snarky. All Western media is like that now having been bought as Woody Harrelson recently explained on SNL. Rupert has been known to say he can't understand why "Jewish press" criticises Israel. He is referring to his own journalists' reporting on Israel from the Middle East. It is the ideology that counts for him not the actual reality which is characteristic of Jews.

The virus was found in Italy, USA, France, and Brazil at least BEFORE the first case in Wuhan, China – Dec 2019. I don't know about you, but I've been exposed to the virus multiple times (at least, people with symptoms claiming to have tested positive) and the illness wasn't a big deal. I'm late 20s and took a bunch of vitamins any time someone said they were sick around me.

They may also have had multiple variants that are less lethal. Remember, the death rate for young people is like 0.003%. Remember also the median age C19 death from Feb-May 2020 was 78, about the same as the median life expectancy. So it could have gone under the radar.

If a coronavirus was accidentally leaked mid-2019 and this was found out by the US government, and the US government decided to spread it (or some variant; they would surely have multiple variants of it, rather than just one) in Wuhan near the WIV / wet market in Nov 2019, enough time before Chinese New Year for it to spread around so that the rest of the world could claim all of their cases were spread from Chinese people travelling around. At least, if I accidentally leaked a virus and wanted to blame it all on China, that's what I would do.

Remember that there was no way to know if someone was sick from SARS-CoV-2 before they started testing for it. Generally, people getting sick from influenza-like-illnesses don't get such tests. In fact, a person spoke of finding a weird new coronavirus in people before Dec 2019. In the 4chan /pol/ archives, a post (from Canada) on 21 Oct 2019 (thread ID: 230585890) stated that they were finding a new RNA virus ("last week") in PCR tests that was flagged for coronavirus but not SARS. They said it was "about 35kb" which fits (SARS-CoV-2 is a little over 30kb).

4chan is an anonymous imageboard and anyone can post anything, but the archives aren't tampered with, and there is not a single reference prior to this date of anyone ever claiming to have found a new coronavirus, so it fits. You can certainly find anecdotes from 2020 and beyond of people saying "Yeah, I think it was there in 2019!" but nothing really explains this Oct 2019 example of a Canadian claiming to have found an unknown coronavirus via PCR testing.

See the following image. I am not sure about the part claiming Spain had it back in March, that might have been a common cold coronavirus they detected, but it certainly was spreading around before Dec 2019 outside of China:

American medicine is an amazing worst-of-both-worlds innovation where it's Communist but you still have to pay for it out of pocket. You get to see astounding Communist cost overruns in person and at the bank.

Given your distinctly Communist tone, I can clearly see that French medicine is like American: the “private” hospitals have to obey a stack of regulations ten feet high, making them about as independent of the government as a bureaucrat's tapeworm. That's what ‘Blackrock investment’ means. Blackrock is the Fed's personal money-lauderer.

I can't help being helpful once more. Now that the FBI according to the National Review has also backed the lab leak theory (though apparently for unstated different reasons) I find significance in this:

In response to the Biden administration agencies' public embrace of the lab leak theory this week, China on Monday accused the U.S. of politicizing the pandemic and rejected the Energy Department's analysis.

"Covid tracing is a scientific issue that should not be politicized," Mao Ning, a Chinese foreign ministry spokeswoman, said in response to the department's finding, according to the New York Times. Ning also demanded the U.S. "stop defaming China" by normalizing the lab-leak theory.

https://www.nationalreview.com/news/fbi-director-says-covid-most-likely-emerged-from-chinese-lab-leak/?utm_source=email&utm_medium=breaking&utm_campaign=newstrack&utm_term=30689936

Can we at least have one of your imaginative but confident explanations as to why the Chinese would eschew any taint of the Unz theory? After all the Chinese may not think it worthwhile to have a human being attend to Unzian revelations but they are bound to have some AI assisted bot on the job. Come to think of it Mulga Mumblebrain is provably the name of the team set up to back up their usually much more intelligent bot.

Covid-19 isn't the China virus. It's the America virus. The freedom flu. We knew this from DAY ONE

If any sort of logical analysis is done, I think this is the conclusion with a “Very High” confidence level.

“Absolute” confidence level would be incontrovertible evidence – which is not currently available. For now, we have to make do with “very high”.

Somebody (Ron Unz himself, perhaps?) should lay out, in truncated terms, but with extensive article linking, the entire corpus of knowledge to date (March of 2023) as regards to origins, progress, and likely motives (if any) behind Covid-19.

Everything, to include strange “coincidences”, and even supposedly tangential news, facts which, in hindsight take on much more malevolent and evil undertones.

There are a great many new to this site who would read that article with immense interest.

Under Obama, factories were closing in the US on a daily basis, and moving to China. Corporate honchos would wring their hands and tearfully explain that they could no longer compete, unless they moved production to China.

For decades, regardless of who's been in the White House, American firms have sought access to cheap, nimble Chinese labor and the massive number of increasingly wealthy Chinese consumers.

What kind of evil psychopaths would chose the global terror of a clandestine, unpredictable biological attack, over a perfectly legal, middle class benefited, trade war? The tariffs, overtime would, with a high level of certainty, trim China's feathers. Who knows what the results of releasing a dangerous, highly contagious virus would be.

It's just not clear if tariffs on imports from China weaken China relative to America. Sure, the result will probably be fewer Chinese goods bought by Americans, but this could lead to higher input costs for American firms. The firms can then pass on these costs to consumers or lay off workers. China can also retaliate with its own tariffs on American goods, reducing the amount of American exports to China.

The ineffectual nature of the tariffs was the impetus for the Covid attack on China. Note that they chose for the site of the release of the virus the wet market in Wuhan, a city where there is a major virology lab. Thus, there are two patsies that get everyone to blame the Chinese for the virus.

The US has a long track record when it comes to using biochemical and most other illegal war weapons. From napalm to Agent Orange to depleted uranium, etc, such activities could continue one way or the other because of its almost total control of the mass media. Use and research of bio and biochemical weapons probably accelerated after WWII when the prospect of becoming a world hegemon became likely. The article below is an example:

That the new ‘evidence’ is secret is no problem for Top Level, whose fatuous adoration of our Yankee Masters knows no bounds, certainly not those of credibility.

The Chinese know what happened. They know who was behind the African Swine Fever and bird ‘flu outbreaks, too. They know who has promised to ‘...bring China down’. And they know that the truth, of a US bio-warfare attack, would be denounced as ‘Commie propaganda’ from one end of the USA and its Five Eyes stooges and most of the West to the other, with the familiar psychopathic hysteria. And we know that Top Level would be in the van, regurgitating it like the compliant Imperial troll that he is.

I've said this before and I'll say it again, it was Falun Gong type nutjobs who, along with their CIA handlers/dupes, did this. Ron is broadly right, because examining timing issues and other cui bono considerations, the "accident" happening at a crux of US internal policy debate was much too convenient.

Another point on the deaths, deaths are no issue, when you have contingencies to fight nuclear war, some 20 million sneezers and geezers keeling over is laughable. If anything biologicals have severely underperformed. Whatever severity the disease had initially obviously was quickly attenuated through evolutionary processes. It's supposed to be easy to create a world-ending disease of some sort but in practice the human immune system is too resilient and the numbers of unique recombinants go up exponentially with population scaling. I think it's another myth busted. Nukes are the way to go which is why you see China stacking them now and Russia and USA being the only other major players because of them.

We're not out of the woods yet, there's a very real possibility we'll all be fried over essentially nothing. Pointless squabbling that afterwards will be thought of as complete idiocy. People playing a board game.

Here's what a commentor on offguardian had to say:

COVID vaccines have now killed an estimated 20 million worldwide and sterilized untold millions. "COVID" deaths are the result of "treatment" with Midazolam, Remdesivir and ventilators- not a virus. A perfectly healthy individual can test "positive" for COVID and be dead after a few weeks of "treatment". The PTB used 24/7 propaganda to hypnotize the masses into believing a global "pandemic" was real and that hospitals were overwhelmed with "cases" when in fact most hospitals were near-empty in 2020 due to the lockdowns.

Something interesting happened to me in 2017. I had been spending a considerable amount of time in the Washington DC area and had received my flu shot in Nov 2016.

In the early spring of 2017, I came down with a bad respiratory illness at first accompanied by the usual cold and flu symptoms. I also recall noting at the time that whatever it was that I had contracted that it seemed qualitatively different from any illness I had ever had previously, yet in a way that was difficult to put in words. It was definitely in my respiratory tract, though what made it stand out was the sheer length of time I was sick and the accompanying severe fatigue. My symptoms did not completely diminish until over 6 weeks later. Throughout, though there was never any time that I was incapacitated, I felt like a complete slug, both mentally and physically.

Then, 3 or so months later in mid-summer of 2017, I became sick again with the exact same symptoms. However, this time, to my relief, the symptoms were less severe and lasted only for about 3 weeks. Since then I have never had anything like it.

When I first began to experience the symptoms, I self-quarantined in the way most people try to do when they realize that they may be sick with an infectious illness. So my interaction with others would have been limited for about a week. I know of no one else who I came into contact with during this time who became sick. I also do not know of anyone I was around before I experienced symptoms who became sick.

Anyone who has read this far is probably thinking that I am implying that I had Covid or some variation of it all the way back in 2017.

I can probably rule out the flu. It wasn't typical flu season and I had had my shot a few months earlier. Of course, the shot does not cover every possible strain of flu.

I never went to the doctor, something I am loathe to do. So I never had any tests done. It might have been quite routine needing only some ordinary antibiotics.

There is a huge overlap of symptoms between diseases. Plus, I'm mostly going by recollection.

Yet, I'm still left wondering. I am certain that I'd never been sick quite that before. And when Covid came out, people were described their symptoms in oddly the same way, especially with respect to the duration and fatigue. Finally, there was the reoccurrence but at a lesser magnitude.

The coin is still up in the air.

It's just not clear if tariffs on imports from China weaken China relative to America. Sure, the result will probably be fewer Chinese goods bought by Americans, but this could lead to higher input costs for American firms. The firms can then pass on these costs to consumers or lay off workers. China can also retaliate with its own tariffs on American goods, reducing the amount of American exports to China.

| As for Israel, it NEVER was the ‘gutsy underdog’

Correct, but the wanker wozzer could have picked this up from the AusBC in ca. 1967, along the lines of

| “The brave little David defending peace-seeking IL from the huge and ugly Arab/Muslim monster”

What the AusBC should have been relating was the fact that the Zs were nothing other than aggressive alien invaders stealing [via vile lies and murdering force] the hapless Ps’ ancestral homelands. The job of a PFBC [= publicly financed broadcaster] is to inform the purported democratic electors of

| “The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth”

Of course, the AusBC is clearly criminally culpable; some notice, most don’t.

PS “Manufacturing Consent” is on my bookshelf but I’m ‘following my nose’ re propaganda; noting that I do almost zero ‘corrupt&venal MSM+PFBCs + Hollywood etc.’ so I have to observe whatever comes my way outside of those. I have worked out that propaganda quite often deploys ‘emotional triggers’ [examples ‘babies thrown out of incubators onto cold stone floors’ and ‘containers of viagra to enhance the local troops’ rape of their own women,’ lately ‘Putin as the new Hitler’ and ‘Russian aggressive invasion’ – and so bypassing rational thought processes to corrupt public opinion.] rgds

You are completely WRONG! if this Covid 19 was leaked from Lab, that will be from a U.S. Lab! and then those so called “players” brought it to WuHan during the World military Game in 2019.

I believe the lab leak theory is BS. The 'virus' was developed at Fort Detrick, went to Harvard, Winnipeg and onto Wuhan. The deaths in Wuhan were not from the virus. Wuhan's citizens were previously inoculated and then 5G was turned on and they dropped like flies, as the 5G stopped the absorption of oxygen. As for bio-labs in Ukraine, that has long been established. The Ukrainian labs were working on ways to use Russian DNA to take out a significant portion of their population. Taiwan's bio-labs are working on ways to use Chinese DNA to take out a significant portion of their population.

UKRAINE IS THE MODERN DAY KHAZARIA.

IT IS THE GLOBAL HUB OF ALL FORMS OF TRAFFICKING AND MONEY LAUNDERING, FOR THE KHAZARIAN MAFIA, NEOCONS, BLACK OPS.

IN FACT A COUPLE OF WEEKS AGO THE RUSSIANS INTERCEPTED A SHIPMENT OF ADRENOCHROME ON IT'S WAY TO POLAND, FOR SHIPMENT TO THE USA. THEY TRACKED THE VEHICLE BACK TO AN ADRENOCHROME FACTORY THAT HELD 50 CHILDREN PUTIN'S INVASION WHICH WAS INITIATED TO STOP THE GENOCIDE OF THE DONBAS, ALSO SEVERELY DISRUPTED THE ILLICIT ACTIVITIES IN UKRAINE.

Americans are mostly European outcasts and down trodden of Europe which was why the British monarchy allowed them to migrate to their numerous colonies (Canada / USA / New Zealand / Australia). America have always been ruled by the oligarchs. It was wealthy British transplants that started the Revolutionary War because in the colonies, they got richer and wealthier and wanted the money / taxation to stay in the colonies as opposed to being siphoned back to London, which was why they rebelled. The rest of the outcast settlers joined the local oligarchs in the war against the old oligarchs back in London.

As for your comment about not seeing any American running to China in a shipping crate. What for? So they can compete for low end, low paying jobs against the backdrop of 700 million poor rural Chinese trying to get the same low end, low paying, physically demanding jobs?

And no one immigrates to America for freedom and democracy. No one. People migrate mostly for economic reasons. So the Chinese trying to get into the US in shipping crates are the low, down trodden, Chinese outcasts. Wealthy Chinese don't need to do that. Wealthy Chinese simply buy up real estate in the US and send their children to expensive US colleges at full premium price.

If you state that Walmart, Costco, Home Depot sell mostly Chinese crap that the US consumers do not need to buy, then you are absolutely clueless on how products are designed, manufactured and shipped all over the world.

1) Just because the label states “Made in China” does not mean it was designed in China. “Made in China” for the most part, means the end product was mass manufactured in China and then shipped around the world, mostly to the USA for mass consumption

2) But a lot of the stuff you buy at the store are designed by US companies right here in the USA (designed by US companies employing an army of scientists, designers, engineers, marketers, financial analysts, sales analyst, advertisers, etc.).

3) These products are designed to certain specifications, and priced accordingly so that the US companies can make a huge profit margin. That’s how they can stay in business and get richer.

4) Also, nothing is mass manufactures in the first place. They get a limited production / prototype run and undergo all kinds of mechanical testing standards and then must go to Walmart, Costco, Home Depot, Target, etc. to ask for a limited test run to see if the product actually sells or not. To see if consumers will actually buy it. If it doesn’t sell, it doesn’t get ordered for mass production.

5) No stores will do a mass purchase order so anything you see at these stores are goods that the consumers want to purchase. Otherwise, they wouldn’t be on the shelve for long and the store would have a fire-sale to get rid of them on the cheap.

Yes, yes, yes. This is the gist of it. Somehow Ron can't grasp the inherent stupidity of this supposed “plot” — especially when you consider that the government did nothing to stop incoming flights or inbound travel for several months there (not that it would have made any difference in the long run, but still).

The type that infects Taiwan only exists in Australia and the US, and since Taiwan was not infected by Australians, the infection in Taiwan could have only come from the US.

The basic logic is that the geographic location with the greatest diversity of virus strains must be the original source, because a single strain cannot emerge from nowhere. It showed that only the US has all five known strains of the virus (while Wuhan and most of China have only one, as do Taiwan and South Korea, Thailand and Vietnam, Singapore and England, Belgium and Germany) , which constitutes a thesis that the haplotypes of other nations may have originated in the USA.

Korea and Taiwan have a different haplotype to China's virus, perhaps more infectious but much less deadly, which would explain a mortality rate of only 1/3 that of China.

Neither Iran nor Italy were included in the previous tests, but both countries have already deciphered the locally predominant genome and declared them different varieties from China, which means that they do not originate from China, but were introduced out of necessity from other source. It should be noted that the Italian variety has roughly the same mortality rate as that of China, three times higher than that of other nations, while the haplotype from Iran appears to be the deadliest, with a mortality rate of between 10%. and 25%.

And, finally, the false accusation of Chinese culpability is the casus belli that the Evil Rive Eyes psychopaths have been searching for

A bioweapon attack is a casus belli, and the Chinese could not be fooled; they would know it was a bioweapon from the US. Yet China has not reacted as they would surely have to if subject to such a bioweapon attack (in order to deter another one). For example the Chinese government's official figures for total deaths in China from covid is 86,000, less than a tenth of what most estimates are. Also:-

To put it bluntly, Ms Shi is an idiot.

All those biological warfare lunatics need to do is use some sweet talk about developing an AIDS vaccine and make her think she's doing humanity a service.

China receives a lot of outsourcing projects from the US. These scientific idiots always think they are making money and it is an honor to work with a top virology university like the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill.

While it is true that those idiots were involved in the outsourcing project, they could not have done it deliberately because samples of the virus were found all over the world before Wuhan in November 2019

It seems that the traces of infection are all spread from the presence of the US military base, which I think is most likely due to careless US soldiers who did not follow the SOP when developing this virus

‘...most estimates’, by whom, troll? You, or your friends in the ‘intelligence community’? China knows that the psychopathic monsters who control the West hate China, its people and civilization, because it is different from the God-ordained American Ideal, that MUST be enforced upon ALL humanity. The psychopathic American hive mind is wracked with doubt, affront and rage at the mere sight of a culture so different from theirs as China. While China was weak they could be sneered at, but once China surpassed the USA as an economic power, around 2014, the race hatred and rage that led to the genocides against the Native Americans, the Koreans, the Japanese, the Indochinese etc, etc, began to fulminate, and has now gone far beyond hysteria as the USA sinks into the self-created shit. China knows this, and she is preparing for the US attack. Revealing US responsibility would be hopeless, as the MSM vermin, scum, corpse maggots would ignore it all, as they ignore Ralph Baric, AMRIID, the USA’s history of bio-warfare and the scores of US bio-warfare labs across the world. And they would accuse China of aggression in lying about the USA. You know that, troll, and you’d be among the first to shout abuse at the Chinese if they did so.Hypocrite.

A bioweapon attack is a casus belli, and the Chinese could not be fooled; they would know it was a bioweapon from the US.

But they wouldn't have any proof, so what good would such accusations do?

In 2020 the Iranians publicly accused America of an illegal biowarfare attack with Covid and even filed a formal complaint with the United Nations. The Western MSM totally ignored their accusations and nobody every heard about it.

Last year, the Russian government publicly accused America of preparing illegal biowarfare attacks from the Ukrainian biolabs. A top Russian general publicly accused America of deliberately releasing Covid in an illegal biowarfare attack. The Western MSM ignored the Russian accusations and so did the American government. Twitter banned the Russian Foreign Ministry for Tweeting those accusations.

<https://www.unz.com/runz/challenging-americas-lords-of-illusion-with-a-million-contrary-rumble-views/>

Seymour Hersh is America's most renowned journalist and the just revealed the details of America's attack on the Nord Stream pipelines. His blockbuster story has been ignored by 99% of the Western MSM.

The Iranians, the Russians, and Hersh have much stronger global media influence that the Chinese, who are very weak outside of China. So what exactly would happen if the Chinese made such Covid accusations, accusations that they obviously couldn't prove?

Jon Rappoport:

In today's episode of virus fakery and population mind control, I examine the one important difference between this phony epidemic and its predecessors—West Nile, SARS, MERS, Swine Flu, Ebola, Zika.

Size matters. That's the difference.

By which I mean, the size of the lie.

In previous incarnations of “raging outbreaks,” the people controlling the operation (CDC, WHO, etc.) were content to let their propaganda fade out after a short time. And as quickly as the false threat was invented, it began to dissolve.

This time, however, the controllers feel sufficiently emboldened to pour fuel on the fire of the lie and build it into an illusion of conflagration.

That's the long and the short of this story.

In all other respects, the 2020 “epidemic” is identical to the previous duds: farcical announcement of an outbreak; miraculously quick and dubious “discovery” of a virus; deployment of diagnostic tests that don't work; deceptive inflation of case numbers; ludicrous claim of global spread; where actual illness is occurring, a cover-up of the true reasons, which have nothing to do with a virus.

The virus was found in Italy, USA, France, and Brazil at least BEFORE the first case in Wuhan, China – Dec 2019.

No, I've extremely skeptical of those claims. I hate to sound like a broken record, but I discussed and debunked them at length in one of my articles a couple of years ago:

<https://www.unz.com/runz/american-pravda-the-covid-epidemic-as-lab-leak-or-biowarfare/#false-narratives-based-upon-false-positives>

The tests involved generally have 98% false-positives, and that very likely explains those anomalous results, which are almost certainly erroneous. People tend to quote findings back and forth to each other without carefully examining the claims being made.

Obviously the increasing misery and impoverishment of large sections of the American population and the prosperous, rising Chinese economy go together. They're two parts of the same globalist push. If anyone is being scapegoated it's the people of the United States, and not just the United States, that the hostile elite have made miserable.

My analysis of the dynamics is quite different. You may or may not ultimately agree with me, but I do think you should at least read the lengthy China/America article I published over a decade ago and referenced in this current column:

Crap. Israel was always militarily stronger than its neighbours, and when it got nukes, well there you go. It was so predominant that it felt free to use Nazi tactics to cleanse Palestine of as many Palestinians as possible, in 1947-8, under Plan Dalet, until stopped from completing the job by the Arab armies. Ben-Gurion was furious that the Galilee had not been cleansed. Looks like Bibi intends finishing the job, and no doubt Top Level will be there, making excuses for his Zionazi betters.

But after the last three years (since 2016, actually), I now tend to believe the whole military and government is just a confederacy of self-deluded Groupthinking midwits. (Operating, as always, with a big assist from whatever coalition of self-interested grifters are due to profit from the decision).

I've worked for the civilian part of the military for forty years and this is largely true. People who work for the government aren't smart people who just have the wrong goals. Someone who is smart would be able to figure out what the right goals are. These are mostly people of average intelligence who are eager to conform in order to get a good paying government job where they don't have to work too hard. Women, who are by their nature conformists, especially like this environment and take to it like ducks to water.

The self-interested grifters involved are able to profit from influencing government decisions because the average American is busy with their lives: pursuing a career, raising children, and pursuing various hobbies. They aren't paying close attention to what is going on. The press should play the role of watchdog, but the special interests pay them off with advertising money or get their bought and paid for politicians to censor them.

Why assume that the bioweapon attack was from a “leaked” and/or “launched” “novel virus” versus a consented-to novel “vaccine?”

Revealing US responsibility would be hopeless, as the MSM vermin, scum, corpse maggots would ignore it all, as they ignore Ralph Baric, AMRIID, the USA's history of bio-warfare and the scores of US bio-warfare labs across the world. And they would accuse China of aggression in lying about the USA.

In that case the US intel cabal that deigned the putative covid attack on China brilliantly anticipated that they would have complete impunity from China even complaining about it. I do admit that just complaining about a covid attack on China might have been pointless, but I think if China undertook a course of complaining and applying an ever increasing amount of military pressure by a build up indicating preparations for invading Taiwan and/or South Korea, further escalating to actual provocations of US forces and more, that would make the world understand that China truly believed that covid was a clandestine US bioweapon, and thus China had been led to such a belief by unearthing multiple lines of possibly circumstantial yet genuinely objective evidence unambiguously pointing to it.

Moreover, China is not simply eschewing any accusation that the US was responsible for the Covid pandemic, Beijing is actually minimising by an order of magnitude the extent of the deaths in China from Covid-19.

In China's Covid Fog, Deaths of Scholars Offer a Clue

The New York Times

<https://www.nytimes.com> › World › Asia Pacific

5 Feb 2023 — The toll of China's epidemic is unclear. But dozens of obituaries of the country's top academics show an enormous loss in just a few weeks.

If China was attacked with a bioweapon they'd know, and the response by Beijing I have adumbrated could only be interpreted as learned helplessness, which would be the very opposite of letting the US know that China could not be re-attacked with impunity. But it is simply not credible that China is in effect telling the US “Thank you sir, may I have another?”

I’m sure you would find my alternative realist-but-too-far out for solving the Israel-Palestine problem.

Each recognises that the Jews simply are not going to create circumstances where they can be outvoted by Arabs.

First is one state with a very powerful upper house of the Knesset which only people who have been net taxpayers for, say, 15 years, can vote for. That should look after the next 100 years.

Second effectually uses money in conjunction with geographical rearrangement to make it worthwhile for enough people to give up fantasies of return to family farms. The essential element would be the creation of a Hong Kong in Galilee which physically would have a wide access road and rail connection to the Mediterranean along the Lebanese border thereby having the bonus effect of protecting Israel. If such a city state succeeded in attracting enough of the Palestinians Israel might be allowed a single state for the rest because there would never be enough Palestinians to do more than support one or more of the modern civilised Jewish parties which certainly need more votes.

Racist Sinophobes like you, troll, routinely accuse China of deceit, without evidence, or 'evidence' so puerile that one must guffaw. In your case it's projection, too.

Russia produced evidence of the USA's extensive bio-warfare operations in Ukraine to the UNSC, and requested a UN investigation. The proposal was immediately vetoed by the USA, UK and France. The Chinese are plainly not looking forward to a thermo-nuclear race war, unlike many in the West. Why go on the offensive when the West is rapidly crumbling? Let Nature take its course.

First option: natural virus

Not plausible, the virus, if it exists, has a patented strand of Moderna DNA at its furin cleavage site in its spike protein, the part of the virus that makes it human transmissible.

Second option: Wuhan lab leak, always said to be by “accident”.

Not plausible, Trump was too quick to jump to this conclusion as President, reminded me of the “Al Queda” attributions right after 9/11. Additionally, it’s been well documented that the US government is heavily involved in genetically modifying coronaviruses to make them human transmissible, even the Wuhan lab was a US subsidiary. Basically, the Wuhan versus natural origin binary is too convenient, one is only presented with two choices, both of which get the likely perpetrator off the hook, or mostly off the hook.

Third option: Ron’s is just one of many third option theories. The third option is the red pill of red pills for Covid truthers, that and that the Covid virus itself might not exist at all, but the “vaccine” does exist; which would you rather get, infected with the virus or injected with the “vaccine”, EASY CHOICE for me, so which is the weapon, the preferred choice, infection, or the choice a wise person wouldn’t make, the “vaccine”, even for a billion dollars?

I think it’s way more likely that the globalists want to crash the world economy, thus necessitating their monetary system reset, along with depopulation done through “vaccines”, than some simple economic attack on China and Iran, especially seeing as Covid was going to spread worldwide and not be limited to China or Iran, or at least its testing methodology would be spread worldwide (the physicians before the Covid-19 PCR test thought it was just a heavy flu season, look it up, “heavy flu season 2019 2020”).

Iran’s leadership being hit hard by Covid-19 is not very impressive as all governments around the world have been hit hard by Covid-19. If they were hit especially hard then they were attacked with a separate weapon.

Trump had the economy booming, Made in USA, the anti-globalist position, bring manufacturing back to the USA, good paying manufacturing jobs; it has nothing to do with butthurt midwesterners mad at China, we are mad at our own government for sending our manufacturing overseas and for having a purposefully insecure border, shipping our jobs overseas for cheap labor and no labor rights while simultaneously shipping in illegal immigrants for cheap labor and no labor rights, the financial pillaging of the middle class of America, leaving only peasants and royalty, which is not acceptable.

Whatever. The “vaccine” is infinitely more a bio-weapon than that glorified cold ever was.

Ron said:

“According to reasonable estimates, the Covid disease epidemic has killed roughly twenty million people worldwide over the last three years, including well over a million Americans,”

The word reasonable and the words over a million Covid deaths in America do not even belong in the same sentence. It's long been common knowledge that the “authorities” count all deaths as Covid deaths as long as the person tests positive for Covid. In 2020 (and probably still) in America they were doing this, they admit it on video, even this month in New Zealand the government Covid death numbers explicitly state that all Covid positive deaths are Covid deaths which is absurd; it says right on the New Zealand government website that they will count a car accident death as a Covid death as long as the person tests positive for Covid. It is not reasonable to believe the 1 million plus Covid death count for America.

| Why go on the offensive when the West is rapidly crumbling

Because it wouldn't be offensive it would be defensive and a deterrent to further attacks by the US. Without retaliation the US would surely do it again. You might as well say that China would not retaliate to a thermonuclear first strike, as turn a blind eye to a Covid-19 bioweapon attack.

In 2013, the American virologist Ralph Baric got Wuhan researcher Shi to give him a spike gene from a bat coronavirus which Baric genetic copy of the SARS virus he already had in his lab. He then showed the chimera he had created could infect human cells. The research caused uproar ("If the virus escaped, nobody could predict the trajectory," said Simon Wain-Hobson, a virologist at the Pasteur Institute in Paris) because influenza chimeras had already led to a ban on funding for GoF....

Nevertheless, US National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases headed by Dr Fauci gave grant money to Peter Daszak's EcoHealth Alliance to collaborate with Wuhan Institute of Virology for research into coronaviruses from bats. The Wuhan researchers used the $600,000 from Fauci and the techniques taught to them by Baric to make many bat coronavirus chimeras in Wuhan. The Bio-Safety level this work was done under was very significantly lower than Baric had been using.

Watch Video At: <https://youtu.be/fUEQPW7GRGo>

The circumstantial evidence for Chinese virology researchers' mistakes in Wuhan being responsible for the global coronavirus pandemic is considerable, and though each anomalous detail is explicable, the totality points in one direction and is far from dismissible. Many people (protesting at the 'lack of hard proof') have been convicted on less of a prosecution case in Western courts.

You stress in your 2012 article the importance of having an independent press and academia (“the sensory apparatus and central nervous system of its body politic”). Next, you say that the Chinese “propaganda machinery” is “crude”, and therefore does not have as deleterious an effect over China as the sophisticated (and corrupt) U.S. press has over America.

Frankly, it is totally self-defeating to argue the importance of an honest and independent press and academia and next admit that a country that lacks them in a substantial degree outcompetes you simply because their dishonest and heavily censored press and academia are too incompetent.

I can say with confidence that I found the gist of that article to be incomprehensible.

I don't think my point was too confusing. You just have to distinguish between the interests of the ruling elites and those of the entire population.

Suppose that the ruling elites have a controlled media that is so effective at brainwashing the population that they can do whatever they want and the people will accept it. They may gradually become more and more corrupt and arrogant and take a larger and larger share of the national wealth for themselves, making the lives of ordinary people more and more miserable as a consequence.

But if the ruling elite doesn't have such an effective tool of control, they may realize that if they misbehave too severely, they could be overthrown and lose everything, so they tend to be more cautious and reasonable.

I'm not saying that's the only reason the elites behave differently, but I do think it's a contributing factor.

Media power corrupts and enormous media power corrupts enormously.

The basics are that (1) 2020 total mortality was flat in America; (2) COVID-19 has no unique symptoms compared to the common flu; and (3) PCR tests are a political tool and cannot differentiate between the common flu and COVID-19 — by adjusting cycle rate maximums the political powers can determine how many are infected or not.

Evidence for this position includes:

Sure it does. But any liberal system has the need of a means of effecting population compliance. That's why they need the media. An authoritarian system has no need for such instruments because their use of force is unfettered by rule-of-law constraints.

Perhaps that explains why they can afford a certain "crudeness" in their propaganda.

If there was the kind of enormous media power that you claim, what would they do and then delete from public consciousness?

I know you think, with your tortured arguments, that this is what has happened, but ask yourself why aren't they taking advantage of it in much more advantageous ways?

My hypothesis is that things are not top down. Your hypothesis involves some version of people achieving total power and being totally incompetent, yet maintaining that power and doing nothing that makes any sort of sense.

I can see why you like your version. It flatters you greatly. I just can't work out how you persuade yourself that it is logical.

The most obvious explanation is that WUHAN-19 is from WIV or a nearby lab. There is no need for international transport, weaponization, etc.

Iran has a gerontocracy problem, as ties back to the original revolution bring political strength. Taking age into account, Iranian government impact is consistent with the statistical trend among other populations.

The fact that the CCP has been taking active steps to avoid a USSR like gerontocracy trap probably explains how WUHAN-19 reached Iran. It travelled first class air with younger and healthier CCP representatives who were mildly hit or asymptomatic super spreaders.

A lot of people think the virus itself doesn't even exist. The "vaccine" does exist though, which turns the body into a spike protein factory that the body then goes to work fighting against, attacking itself. The theory is that Covid-19, detectable by the easily gameable PCR test, conflates flu, common cold, pneumonias, etc, with so-called "Covid-19". Would you have known there was a new deadly pandemic if the "authorities" didn't tell you there was?

I remember Nancy Pelosi going to the hair salon, maskless, during "Covid", also there are many videos of world "leaders" masking up for the camera but as soon as they think the camera is off then off come the masks. It's possible old Klaus Schwab and the rest of the old "aristocrats" know that the virus doesn't even exist at all, if I was a psychopathic globalist depopulationist hell bent on world dictatorship I wouldn't want to be exposed to a genetically engineered virus, all I would have to do is pretend that the virus does exist and then demand that everyone get "vaccinated" with the real bio-weapon.

I'm on the fence about whether or not the virus actually exists. Even operating from the standpoint that it does exist it's still a mild virus with a kill rate well within the range of the seasonal flu, every government mitigation was fraudulent and counterproductive, they won't even stop their gain of function work even though their cover story for doing it in the first place is to develop "vaccines" should nature decide to evolve a human-transmissible virus on its own, they are always "humanitarians", but now that a GOF virus escaped a lab and wreaked havoc on the world putting anything nature would evolve and do on its own to shame, they still won't stop the research, because it's not for humanitarian purposes, that's just the cover story, it's for bioweapon research and production.

Why the new lab leak theory is nonsensical:

But OK, fine, the spies and cops disagree about their conclusions. Let's talk about their evidence. What new proof — questionable, fragmented, or problematic as it may be — did the DOE rely on to make their latest “low confidence” estimate?

The WSJ had no idea. The reporters did not actually see a copy of the five-page report; the unnamed officials who told them about it “declined to give details.” (FBI director Christopher Wray repeated his agency’s conclusion in a Fox News interview Tuesday, also refusing to provide details.) But CNN claims to have the goods:

Three sources told CNN that the Department of Energy’s shift was based in part on information about research being conducted at the Chinese Centers for Disease Control in Wuhan, China, which was studying a coronavirus variant around the time of the outbreak.

Take a closer look at the name of the lab in that quote. If you have been reading anything about the lab leak for the last three years, or even just looking at the pictures, you will no doubt recognize the name Wuhan Institute of Virology.

Well, it may interest you to know that the Chinese Centers for Disease Control [and Prevention] is not the Wuhan Institute of Virology. It is, in fact, an entirely different institution — nine miles away, on the other side of Wuhan, across the Yangzi River. To put it in American terms: If the CCDC was near the White House, the WIV would be somewhere in Falls Church, Virginia.

These sort of details are important when talking about the introduction of a disease. The exact location of the Nepalese base in Haiti was a key piece of evidence, because it was on a river immediately upstream of the first cluster of cholera cases. If someone else had come out with a report arguing that the cholera epidemic had actually begun several miles downriver — even if that report also pointed at the U.N. — I would not take that as “validation” of my theory. I would have taken it, in fact, as a challenge, and set out immediately to check both my math and theirs.

As it happens, switching the lab at the center of the story would solve one big problem the lab leakers have been struggling with for three years: that the earliest known cluster of COVID cases was nowhere near the WIV. During the initial wave of unexplained pneumonia, doctors immediately identified the Huanan Seafood Wholesale Market, on the west side of Wuhan, as the common link. That was why, to the chagrin of investigators since, Chinese officials immediately closed and sanitized the market on January 1, 2020. Since then, evolutionary biologist Michael Worobey and his colleagues have provided even more detail for the case that the market was the “epicenter” of the pandemic.

How did the WUHAN-19 virus get from WIV to the Wet Market?

Here is the most plausible scenario.

A small group of uninfected WIV workers (e.g. security, manual laborer) transported infected animals to the Wet Market and sold them. Non-scientist staff would be unlikely to understand the risk of stealing apparently healthy animals from the destruction queue.

It fits means, motive, and opportunity with a small cast of conspirators. Thus, it should be applied as the working theory, not proven fact.

Step One-admit that SARS CoV2 is an hybrid of bat and pangolin viruses, with a furin cleavage site added, which immediately easily infected humans, showing that it had been 'serially passaged' through human tissue or 'humanised' mice (all known by about April 2020) then begin asking further questions. PS You should ask A123 for an assignation-I hear she's quite the goer.

A group of people, often of a certain lineage, ‘argue’ for a particular economic doctrine. One that rewards the parasite elements and suppresses the wages and living conditions of working people.

This doctrine is ferociously peddled by a MSM totally owned by the parasite elements. Contrary tendencies in academia are suppressed. ‘Labor’ politicians are bribed, brainwashed and threatened into complicity, while the Right have lived their lives hoping for such one-sided class warfare.

. The results over the last forty or so years are unambiguous. Ever greater inequality in income, and, more particularly, wealth. An ever greater share of GNP for capital, and a smaller portion for labour. Wage stagnation, now going on for forty years in the USA, and obdurate for years in Austfalia. The increased financialisation of the economy, with the leading parasites paying themselves whatever their greed desires. Increased popular cultural admiration for dividend bludgers, tax avoiders and sundry blood-suckers, and sadistic cruelty and poverty imposed on the ‘losers’, reaching a paroxysm of class hatred and misanthropic viciousness in the Robodebt atrocity. All in all, Top Level’s Dream World of unhindered plunder and arrogance.

The third option, a US bio-warfare attack is, in my opinion, near certain because the USA is the most aggressive power in history. The USA has used bio-warfare against humans, domestic animals and crops, targeting Chinese in Korea, Cuba and China itself. The USA is utterly determined to rule the entire planet forever in the name of Western Moral Values, a sad, sick, joke and totally refuses to accept the rise of any other State. And the long history of US bio-warfare research into coronaviruses, at least going back to the late 80s with Ralph Baric et al, is undeniable. QED.

The biggest blind is the one that doesn't want to see.

I, personally, worked on a portuguese company, where from december 2019 to february 2020, over 90% of the staff (all healthy, young avg 30 yr old) got a 'weird' strong cold/flu, with ALL the symptoms asociated later with c19, including "worst i have been in bed", "complete loss of taste and smell" and "low oxygen in blood values".

When a few cases turned cronic and disabled people for weeks until the official covid narrative arrived, they wanted to be tested for covid, but they where not allowed because they "where not on italy or china".

A final case persisted for over a month, and was finally tested. It was covid.

If the final person with all the same symptoms was covid, all the first ones where too, but the government here, just like you, refused ti accept that as it would put in cause the narrative.

I also remember the earliest genome mappings that showed that whereas chinese strain came from a single source, in USA multiple strains where circulating and evolving, clearly pointing to earlier release and evolution.

You are being disingenuous. Things don't have to be mutually exclusive.

You are obviously not of the practical school of thought of the many Labor MPs I have known over the years whose everyday wisdom says “if you have a choice between a conspiracy and a cockup, choose the cockup every time”. I would guess Robodebt was largely stubborn incompetence though I haven’t studied the debacle.

Given that I warned against it in 2009, on both sides of politics and at the highest level, I regard incompetence as the best word to describe the cause of our now having SMSFs with hundreds of millions in them, greatly tax favoured.

I don’t believe the bad social outcomes you describe are anything like the callous scandal in Australia that I see in the US. At the beginning of the mostly sensible economic reforms under the Hawke-Keating regime 40 years ago the revolution in ideas fostered by The Modest Member/Farmer, Bert Kelly and more academic types I recall the General Secretary of a large union saying to me when I asked him about “economic rationalism” as we used to call neoliberalism and he replied “there is no alternative to economic rationalism”. The greatest defenders of protection all round, against which Bert Kelly , the Liberal MP son of the 193ps Tariff Board chairman, were Country (National) Party leaders like Sir John [Black Jack] McEwan who had McEwan House built for his party out of donations from those who received tariff and quota protection.

No, it is anachronistic not to give credit or blame to intellectual fashion rather than MSM.

The basic logic is that the geographic location with the greatest diversity of virus strains

I think it is a little bit more complicated, because time is not the only factor at play here.

The USA has several factors – like lots of international travel to and from all around the world, reluctance toward mitigating strategies like masking and lockdowns and – leading to a very active virus circulation. Lots of viral replications and cases (sometimes silent) means a lot of genetic drift, and multiple strains popping out.

China, with it's policy of massive lockdowns, aggressive testing and contact tracing around any identified case, was able to keep the virus circulation in the general population down.

Let us not give Baric all the credit.

<https://www.vanityfair.com/news/2021/10/nih-admits-funding-risky-virus-research-in-wuhan>

On Wednesday, the NIH sent a letter to members of the House Committee on Energy and Commerce that acknowledged two facts. One was that EcoHealth Alliance, a New York City–based nonprofit that partners with far-flung laboratories to research and prevent the outbreak of emerging diseases, did indeed enhance a bat coronavirus to become potentially more infectious to humans, which the NIH letter described as an “unexpected result” of the research it funded that was carried out in partnership with the Wuhan Institute of Virology. The second was that EcoHealth Alliance violated the terms of its grant conditions stipulating that it had to report if its research increased the viral growth of a pathogen by tenfold. [...]

$14 million grant proposal that EcoHealth Alliance had submitted in 2018 to the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA). It proposed partnering with the Wuhan Institute of Virology and constructing SARS-related bat coronaviruses into which they would insert “human-specific cleavage sites” as a way to “evaluate growth potential” of the pathogens. Perhaps not surprisingly, DARPA rejected the proposal, assessing that it failed to fully address the risks of gain-of-function research.

The leaked grant proposal struck a number of scientists and researchers as significant for one reason. One distinctive segment of SARS-CoV-2’s genetic code is a furin cleavage site that makes the virus more infectious by allowing it to efficiently enter human cells. That is just the feature that EcoHealth Alliance and the Wuhan Institute of Virology had proposed to engineer in the 2018 grant proposal. “If I applied for funding to paint Central Park purple and was denied, but then a year later we woke up to find Central Park painted purple, I’d be a prime suspect,”

The weird flip-flop is how you can tell it wasn't on purpose.

If it was all a plot to do lockdowns it would have been lockdowns immediately. If it was an intentional biowarfare attack they would have already known to expect something. Probably would have had tests ready. Instead they banned folk from using tests.

Which is business as usual. Obviously nobody is allowed to know anything about diseases without prior FDA approval. AKA bribes and kickbacks.

Rather, they slowly realized they had a “crisis” they shouldn't let go to waste. Bureaucracy going at usual bureaucrat speeds.

| reluctance toward mitigating strategies like masking and lockdowns

Naturally these ‘mitigation’ strategies spread the virus faster, if anything.

Masking should have worked. It should reduce virions which make it to the air, and should have cut viral load from any particular exposure event. Didn’t make any noticeable difference, but did make folk feel safe so they would go expose themselves more. Same way antilock breaks don’t save any lives because drivers in ABS cars drive more recklessly. The search term is risk homeostasis.

By the way, “social distancing” is pure cope. Ncov can casually span 12 foot distances. Sitting at half that – assuming folk even stayed at the proper displacement, which they didn’t – is laughable.

Not to mention the real mitigation strategy (get everyone outside in the sunlight) was criminally persecuted.

Well, you’re a newcomer to this website. Maybe your story is true and maybe it isn’t. Maybe all of you had Covid and maybe you didn’t. However, even if you did, there’s nothing impossible about Covid starting to spread elsewhere by December 2019, though that’s a month or so earlier than is generally believed.

I also remember the earliest genome mappings that showed that whereas chinese strain came from a single source, in USA multiple strains where circulating and evolving, clearly pointing to earlier release and evolution.

From what I’ve heard, those very early claims may have been a statistical artifact due to incorrect analysis techniques, which was then widely promoted by conspiracy-activists. I’ve never subsequently seen those claims made anywhere else, which makes me suspect that they weren’t correct. <https://theintercept.com/2022/05/19/covid-lab-leak-evidence-jeffrey-sachs/>

Since its genetic sequence was first published in February 2020, scientists have puzzled over the furin cleavage site, an area on the virus’s spike that allows it to be cleaved by a protein on the membrane of human cells and makes the coronavirus particularly dangerous to people. Once split, the virus releases its genetic material into the cell and reproduces. While attaching to cells and spike cleavage is part of how all coronaviruses work, SARS-CoV-2 is the only one of its class, sarbecoviruses, that can use furin for the cleavage

Sachs and Harrison acknowledge that the sequence could have arisen naturally. But they also lay out another possibility: that scientists might have purposefully inserted this particular string of amino acids into a bat coronavirus in the course of their work. They focus particularly on scientists who submitted an unfunded grant proposal to a division of the Defense Department called the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, or DARPA, laying out plans to insert a furin cleavage site into a bat coronavirus.

“We do not know whether the insertion of the FCS was the result of natural evolution — perhaps via a recombination event in an intermediate mammal or a human — or was the result of a deliberate introduction of the FCS into a SARS-like virus as part of a laboratory experiment,” Sachs and Harrison write. “We do know that the insertion of such FCS sequences into SARS-like viruses was a specific goal of work proposed by the EHA-WIV-UNC partnership within a 2018 grant proposal (“DEFUSE”) that was submitted to the US Defense Advanced Research Projects (DARPA).”

Christine Massey, M.Sc conducted an extensive report over a period of more than a year. The central question raised in her study is the following:

“is there reliable evidence that SARS-CoV-2 has been isolated from an “unadulterated sample taken from a diseased patient”?

Christine Massey submitted Freedom of Information (FOI) requests to some 90 Health /Science institutions.

The results ? nada. Not a shred of evidence. You can blabber all day on the ConVid, it doesn't exist.

If you had been following the Robodebt inquiry you would have seen a few pathopsychological drives were at work. First, the Right's intractable misanthropy and hatred of the victims of capitalism, most prevalent and marked in lower middle class (the bedrock of fascism)specimens like John Howard, always fearful that one economic accident could throw them back into the hated 'mob' and ever arse-kissing of the parasitic rulers, and religious nutters like Scomo.

This class sadism is unquenchable and ever worsening, and sits besides race hatred, as seen in every barbarous act of bastardy inflicted on the Indigenous and in the frenzy of race hatred against China, and insatiable greed as the Holy Trinity of the Right in Austfalia. You know-your tribe.

And the LNP regimes always stack the Public Service with specimens like themselves, so simply human decency in NOT driving hundreds to suicide does not come into it. As for Labor, it is still terminally poisoned by Catholic DLP elements and moral imbeciles like Carr, Beazley, Loosely etc who worship the USA despite its hideous record of aggression, violence and genocide. Keating and Hawke were proto-Blairites, richly rewarded on retirement (but not too much-these are and were just 'useful idiots' after all)for services rendered to the rich rulers of society. And even mere 'social democrats' like Whitlam are simply NOT tolerated, and all means, domestic and foreign, mobilised to be rid of them.

A small group of uninfected WIV workers (e.g. security, manual laborer) transported infected animals to the Wet Market and sold them. Non-scientist staff would be unlikely to understand the risk of stealing apparently healthy animals from the destruction queue.

First of all, there is no evidence that COVID-19 had existed in the labs of WIV before the outbreak. Second, it's inconceivable that any employees of a BSL-4 lab had not received biosafety training before their employment and would have risked their lives to steal potentially infected lab animals. Finally, even if someone had stolen some infected animals, they probably would have gotten infected too and there would have been a cluster of infection around the WIV, and it had not been the case.

First of all, there is no evidence that COVID-19 had existed in the labs of WIV before the outbreak.

It is 100% proven fact that WIV was working on coronavirus strains closely related to WUHAN-19. The exact details are not immediately available because WIV had them deleted: (1)

Deleted coronavirus genome sequences trigger scientific intrigue

Partial SARS-CoV-2 sequences from early outbreaks in Wuhan were removed from a US government database by the scientists who deposited them.

Efforts to study the early stages of the coronavirus pandemic have received help from a surprising source. A biologist in the United States has ‘excavated’ partial SARS-CoV-2 genome sequences from the beginnings of the pandemic’s probable epicentre in Wuhan, China, that were deposited — but later removed — from a US government database.

if WIV was not involved with the WUHAN-19 virus, why was exculpatory evidence destroyed?

Second, it’s inconceivable that any employees of a BSL-4 lab had not received biosafety training before their employment and would have risked their lives to steal potentially infected lab animals.

Coronavirus would be handled at BSL-2, not BSL-4. This is among the various reasons why Danielle Anderson is a debunked witness. She was never near the BSL-2 laboratories and has no direct knowledge of effectiveness of their procedures as actually practiced.

Finally, even if someone had stolen some infected animals, they probably would have gotten infected too

Unlikely. Those who handle wild animals use protective gear and sturdy crates.

While this image is not from WIV, only a moron would assert that flimsy containment was prevalent. General knowledge suggests that this crate represents a minimal level of protection for animal handlers.

It's very unlikely that Covid leaked from Ft. Detrick during mid-2019, which is just a typical conspiracy-hoax

From your analysis of that theory:

Moreover, the single most important characteristic of Covid is the extremely contagious nature of the disease, with outbreaks growing exponentially if not controlled by strong public health measures. But the graph of EVALI cases provided on the CDC website tells a very different story ...

OK but what we do know with 100% certainty is that the SARS-CoV-2 FCS [= furin cleavage site, a 12-nucleotide off-frame insertion] was added in at some development stage [some proof = the only other place that that sequence occurs is within a patented 19-nucleotide sequence = impossible as 'coincidence']. Sooo, there was a time when that FCS was not in some SARS-CoV-2 precursor sequence, which would not be extremely contagious [some proof of that is the known fact that RaTG13 = closest known similar/related virus, does not infect humans]. Now, what I posit [not as a conspiracy-theory but in my search for the truth] is that some such precursor could have been 'live tested' either in EVALI [= remarkably similar symptoms] by contaminating mail-order vaping fluid [= direct inhalation into lungs], or the old-folks home at Greenspring – or both if not other sites. Also, asserting that no evidence of some SARS-CoV-2 precursor infection was ever found in 2019 tells us nothing – if nobody bothered to look for any such evidence – or did look but covered that up. Lastly, IF some 'black-hat' perpetrators deliberately released some 'final version' of SARS-CoV-2 now with the FCS (in Wuhan, say, and Iran) THEN those same perps would hardly shy from some such 'live testing' as I posit. Just saying. rgds

China has also developed an internal consumer market (the largest in the world). Most conservative arguments about imminent Chinese collapse are based on information about China that is 20-30 years out of date (and based on false neoliberal assumptions about economics). China is no longer dependent on American consumer markets, nor are American consumer markets even the primary center of gravity in global consumption anymore. They don't seem to comprehend how quickly and drastically China has changed just in the last couple of decades. Even the "cheap Chinese junk" line is mostly false now, as Chinese products have become top class in many areas (automobiles are one example). This is where Chinese strength is really apparent. They take industries in which they were performing on a low to mid range level and they advance those industries to world class and cutting edge in 5 years. And they have done this in multiple industries, repeatedly.

For Americans, this is almost unthinkable, as the advancements they have seen in the last decade have mostly been concentrated in the gay phone app and Doritos flavor dust industries. And even in the field of gay phone apps, China has beaten them with tik tok, which seems to be the zoomer social media of choice.

Without the FCS, Covid probably wouldn’t be highly-infectious or dangerous, and none of its characteristics would be the same, so it’s not the same virus. Why in the world would someone “test” a Covid precursor with totally different characteristics in America?

EVALI was totally dissimilar to Covid. It struck the young, while Covid hits the old. It wasn’t contagious, while Covid is ultra-contagious. It died out by itself, while Covid started an epidemic.

The main people promoted EVALI as Covid were pro-China propaganda-activists and their dupes on various conspiracy-websites.

Thanks for the link, but I'm skeptical whether the data indicates anything.

China stamped out the virus very quickly, while America probably had the largest number of early infections, including from numerous other countries, so it would make sense we'd have among the widespread variety of strains.

I very much doubt that indicates it was circulating here before the Wuhan outbreak, and none of the leading virologists who have studied the outbreak seem to believe that.

I think there were just a couple of early papers showing anomalous genetic trees, and I've been told those have generally been dismissed as statistical artifacts.

It is 100% proven fact that WIV was working on coronavirus strains closely related to WUHAN-19. The exact details are not immediately available because WIV had them deleted: (1)

Whatever the WIV was working on, there was no clusters of infection around WIV initially. That's why CNN claimed in its recent report that the most recent DOE report was based on information from Wuhan CDC's lab, not WIV. The problem is, there is little evidence that Wuhan CDC's lab, although much closer to the wet market than WIV, has had a coronavirus research program.

<https://www.cnn.com/2023/02/27/politics/intel-community-covid-origins/index.html>

There are serious studies that point to the wet market origin. Even NYT reported about those.

Get your head round this. The wicked/incompetent/ merely ordinarily self centred “elites” who have profited so greatly from globalisation undoubtedly have included a high proportion of Jews, including inevitably pro Israel Jews, so how come the West has reduced its capacity to produce armaments quickly that it as though no one remembered the lessons of the early 1940s when US industrial capacity was critical to the Allies winning WW2.

Of course not. They transported animals in crates.

Transmission is not immediate or 100%. The petty thieves would only have brief contact with the external of the security cage when loading it in a back of a truck, and then again briefly when turning them over to the buyer at the Wet Market. Incredibly simple techniques such as alcohol or other disinfectant on gloves would greatly impede spread potential.

Once the animal(s) were on display and being handled presale, that is what created Patient Zero at Wet Market.

Is this 100% certain... No.... It is the best working theory. See an explanation of the logical framework here:

A word of praise for Keating, after all. He has observed that ‘Austfalia’s’ foreign policy establishment is populated by what he calls an army of ‘little Americans’ who are actually more concerned with US Imperial priorities than those of their ostensible home country, Austfalia.

To give these creatures some credit, I doubt that they do this out of straight treachery, although the efforts, long ago, of local rightists, the upper reaches of the legal apparatus, and the MSM led by an emerging Murdoch cancer, to aid the USA in being rid of the Whitlam Government was, in my opinion, treasonous. No, these ‘Australmericans’ so totally identify with the USA that they are convinced that this country has no future without ‘Our Great And Powerful Friend’, as the saying goes.

Some do this out of brainwashed stupidity, simply ignoring the USA’s unparalleled record of aggression and destruction, believing instead the puerile fantasies of American Exceptionalism and its ‘Moral Values’. But others do it, I would say, knowing full well how violent, aggressive, genocidal and mendacious the USA has always been, and they admire just that. They want to be part of the Yankee posses roaming the world, killing, looting and sneering as they go. The Murdoch cancer contains many of this type, the prime example of which, I would say, is Satan Murdoch himself. After all, he, long ago, made the full transition and became an American himself.

Because, as well as being hyper-aggressive and genocidal thugs, Western elites are fucking stupid. See the Anglosphere ruling castes for numerous examples. The processes whereby the real rulers, the rich, select politicians for office ensure that they will be compliant, obedient and thick.

The West believes its own self-deceptions. They thought that they could just push Russia into a corner, finish 'em off, then turn on China. Funny thing is, the Russians and Chinese are a little tougher than Cuban air-field workers in Grenada, 'Nutmeg Capital of the World', although the Cubans gave the Yanks a bloody nose. So bloody that, in fury, the Yanks sacked the Cuban Embassy and smeared their faeces on the walls, an act of territorial possession that they'd love to repeat in Havana.

EVALI was totally dissimilar to Covid. It struck the young, while Covid hits the old. It wasn't contagious, while Covid is ultra-contagious. It died out by itself, while Covid started an epidemic.

EVALI didn't "strike" anyone. How could it have? No one, including the CDC, knew or even claimed to know what caused the disease. They had no way to test for the disease. EVALI only described an association between vaping and unexplained pneumonia. It described no causation whatsoever. There were PLENTY of other people who also had unexplained pneumonia during summer 2019 who did NOT have a history of vaporizer use. So the average age of an EVALI patient only reflects the average age of a vaporizer user. It does not reflect the average age of a person suffering from unexplained respiratory disease during the same time period. If someone had all the symptoms of EVALI, but no history of vaping, then they could not be diagnosed with the disease. Obviously!

If you really think that EVALI was a disease that went away on its own, why don't you explain why it went away? Considering you have no idea what caused the disease, I doubt you can offer any plausible explanation for why it disappeared just as suddenly as it appeared. Why did it form an epidemic curve, if it wasn't contagious? For that matter why did it cause severe immune reactions if it wasn't contagious?

You know nothing about EVALI – nothing – aside from the fact that the CDC associated unexplained cases of pneumonia with a history of vaping. Because that's all there is to know!

You also don't know what biological agent breached containment at Ft. Detrick the month before EVALI was concocted by the CDC. That's two huge medical mysteries, back to back, a lab leak and an unexplained outbreak of novel pneumonia. We're supposed to believe that these mysteries have nothing to do with SARS2 being discovered in Wuhan six months later?

Why do you even think the CDC is credible? They have enormous conflicts of interest all around.

Hmmm, after more than 3 years of witch-hunting they found “evidence” of Wuhan lab leak? Wonder whether they still could find evidence for the Iraqi WMD? But behind this propaganda war, there is another intense cyberwar waging against China. It started in early 2021.

“In March, Biden directed his national security adviser, Jake Sullivan, to task the intelligence community with preparing a report on the most up-to-date analysis of the origins of the Covid-19 pandemic. Biden said he received that report in May and then asked for additional follow-up.”

<https://www.cnn.com/2021/08/24/politics/covid-origins-report-90-days-over/index.html>

Then, in April, South China Morning Post reported that Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV) had been under cyber attacks. But no official confirmation from China at that time. On May 26, Biden told the 17 US intelligence swamplands,.. err... agencies, to “redouble” their efforts and ordered them to come up with evidence of the origin of the virus from WIV within 90 days.

Finally, on July 22, Chinese complained. During the Chinese State Council news briefing, a WIV representative said that the work and private emails of many of its employees including Shi Zheng Li’s team were hacked, and the institute database, repository of research projects, papers and web site have all been breached.

武汉病毒所遭网络攻击，美情报机构暴露，CNN炒作“最新发现”
(Chinese source)

<https://www.ixigua.com/6994442442418160140?logTag=62dfcab957484fe15795>

As if to pre-empt any Chinese retaliation, on July 27, in a speech in the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, Biden warned,

“I think it’s more likely we’re going to end up — well, if we end up in a war, a real shooting war with a major power, it’s going to be as a consequence of a cyber breach of great consequence. And it’s increasing exponentially — the capabilities.”

<https://www.whitehouse.gov/briefing-room/speeches-remarks/2021/07/27/remarks-by-president-biden-at-the-office-of-the-director-of-national-intelligence/>

The above muddled words do not look like a prepared speech, but a warning message someone whispered to Biden at the last minute. The “major power” obviously referred to China, because Ukraine conflict was a bigger threat of “shooting war” between Russia and US.

As the deadline approached, on Aug 5, CNN broke the news “exclusively” that US intelligence community had obtained a large treasure trove of raw data about WIV.

“US intelligence agencies are digging through a treasure trove of genetic data that could be key to uncovering the origins of the coronavirus – as soon as they can decipher it.

This giant catalog of information contains genetic blueprints drawn from virus samples studied at the lab in Wuhan, China which some officials believe may have been the source of the Covid-19 outbreak, multiple people familiar with the matter tell CNN.

It’s unclear exactly how or when US intelligence agencies gained access to the information, but the machines involved in creating and processing this kind of genetic data from viruses are typically connected to external cloud-based servers – leaving open the possibility they were hacked, sources said.”

However, the tasks remained...

“Still, translating this mountain of raw data into usable information – which is only one part of the intelligence community’s 90-day push to uncover the pandemic’s origins – presents a range of challenges, including harnessing enough computing power to process it all. To do that, intelligence agencies are relying on supercomputers at the Department of Energy’s National Labs, a collection of 17 elite government research institutions.

There’s also a manpower issue. Not only do intelligence agencies need government scientists skilled enough to interpret complex genetic sequencing data and who have the proper security clearance, they also need to speak Mandarin, since the information is written in Chinese with a specialized vocabulary.”

<https://www.cnn.com/2021/08/05/politics/covid-origins-genetic-data-wuhan-lab/index.html>

Apparently, no evidence was found after Biden’s deadline. Interestingly, the agency that asserted the greatest confidence in the Wuhan-lab-leak theory was the agency that supposed to focus mainly on domestic crimes (FBI). To understand why, just search for what their director Christopher Wray said about China in the past. So, the witch-hunt continues, and then the Dept. of Energy’s latest report.

But maybe there wasn’t a cyberwar, and these are just coincidental, just like when WIV database was hacked in Oct/Nov of 2019, right around the time of the military game and before the Chinese detected the Covid-19 outbreak. It was also a coincidence that the outbreak happened at the best time of the largest annual human migration of Chinese New Year travel season. It was also a coincidence that the outbreak happened when the trade war was in a stalemate. It was also another coincidence that the virus jumped to Iran at the earliest opportunity even though no Iranian political leader was known to visit Wuhan in 2019, and so on.

@eah

“whether SARS-CoV-2 is, or could plausibly be, connected to work done at the Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV)”

Ever since the outbreak of SARS-1, China had been looking for the source of the virus from the animals in nature (unfortunately, they forget to look at animals from Fort Detrick?). All the viruses they looked for were similar to SARS-CoV-1, which shared less than 80% RNA sequence with SARS-CoV-2. By 2019, they only discovered, isolated and studied 3 strains of viruses, all shared less than 79% sequence to SARS-CoV-2.

After the outbreak of Covid-19, they did go back to their database to search for virus similar to SARS-CoV-2. The closest they found was RaTG-13, which shared 96.2% sequence with SARS-CoV-2. Because it was so different from SARS-CoV-1 (less than 79%), it never caught their attention many years ago. WIV had not kept nor further studied the virus.

<https://www.ixigua.com/6830957448468103684?logTag=09b28e141ee2e305d943>

For comparison the percentage of DNA that humans share with other animals: Cat 90%, mouse 85%, dog 84%, Cow 80%.

<https://thednatests.com/how-much-dna-do-humans-share-with-other-animals/>

All the above numbers and information are published in peer-reviewed papers and easily verified by competent scientists. The WIV researchers were very keen to published and shared info, and there was no reason to hide anything before 2019. It was also a very open international research lab, and there were scientists from many countries including US, Canada, Japan, Russia, Singapore, Australia, France, Holland who had worked with them. All scientists who spoken so far don't believe they were working on anything like SARS-Cov-2. Furthermore, more than 3 years of hacking of WIV database, employees' emails and private info by the most powerful intelligence teams in the world has not produced anything to contradict that.

| "I don't see why a leak from the WIV would also not be seen as plausible."

The next time policemen looked for the place where a serial killer might escape from, to save time, I advise not to search in the cow ranch or dog house. Your comment is typical of lay-person reasoning, sort of like the children whisper challenge game – passing of less and less accurate info down the circle.

As for the gain of function research, it is done by many research centers around the world. It is one of the principal tool of researchers and had benefited humanity greatly. We should not let a few evil scientists' efforts to make bioweapons out from more human-transmissible virus malign the whole field – just like we don't call all computer programmers computer hackers, or nuclear physicists doomsday scientists. Ron Unz's original words are correct – there is simply no evidence of WIV working on Covid-19 (i.e. SARS-CoV-2). So, let's be careful about our words and not provide more fuel to the anti-China trolls and harm the serious scientists, here or elsewhere.

Who gave you that simple minded rubbish to parrot. You obviously weren't there. There was no struggle by Britain and the USA to dominate Australian culture but a lot of energetic rebellion by young educated Australians to shake up and shake off what they saw as fuddy daddy hangovers from a conservative past which the persona of the (very intelligent and well educated PM Menzies) symbolised for many.

And you may have forgotten, if you ever knew, that, apart from Robert Hughes the talent nearly all headed for Britain, like Clive James, Germaine Greer, Barry Humphrey, Barry Crocker and on to a later generation with people like Barry Kosky who started in Melbourne and became the first Jew to direct and conduct Wagnerian opera at Beyreuth. As you probably haven't even heard of him I take the opportunity to wind up the BP of UR's swarm of antisemites by quoting this from Wikipedia:

Commenting on the leading positions held by Jews in the Berlin cultural institutions, Kosky, who depicts himself as a "gay Jewish kangaroo", said:

...the more Jews the better in Berlin – bring it on! If you look at Berlin before the war, all the theatres were owned by Jews, it was like Broadway. They say that half the orchestras were full of Jewish musicians, all the major theatre directors were Jews.

1st of all, thanks for your #267 response to my #265. Since I'm seeing 'no traction,' I'm abandoning EVALI, as anyway rather subsidiary/inconsequential to the 'critical path' towards exposing the SARS-CoV-2 origin. Onwards.

2nd, me: 'Silence = acquiescence.' Readers my care to examine exactly what Mr. Unz did not object to in my #265, but perhaps the biggest 'take-away' = a proof of 'lab-produced,' but any 'release-mechanism' [= who, how] is still not known.

I think there were just a couple of early papers showing anomalous genetic trees, and I've been told those have generally been dismissed as statistical artifacts

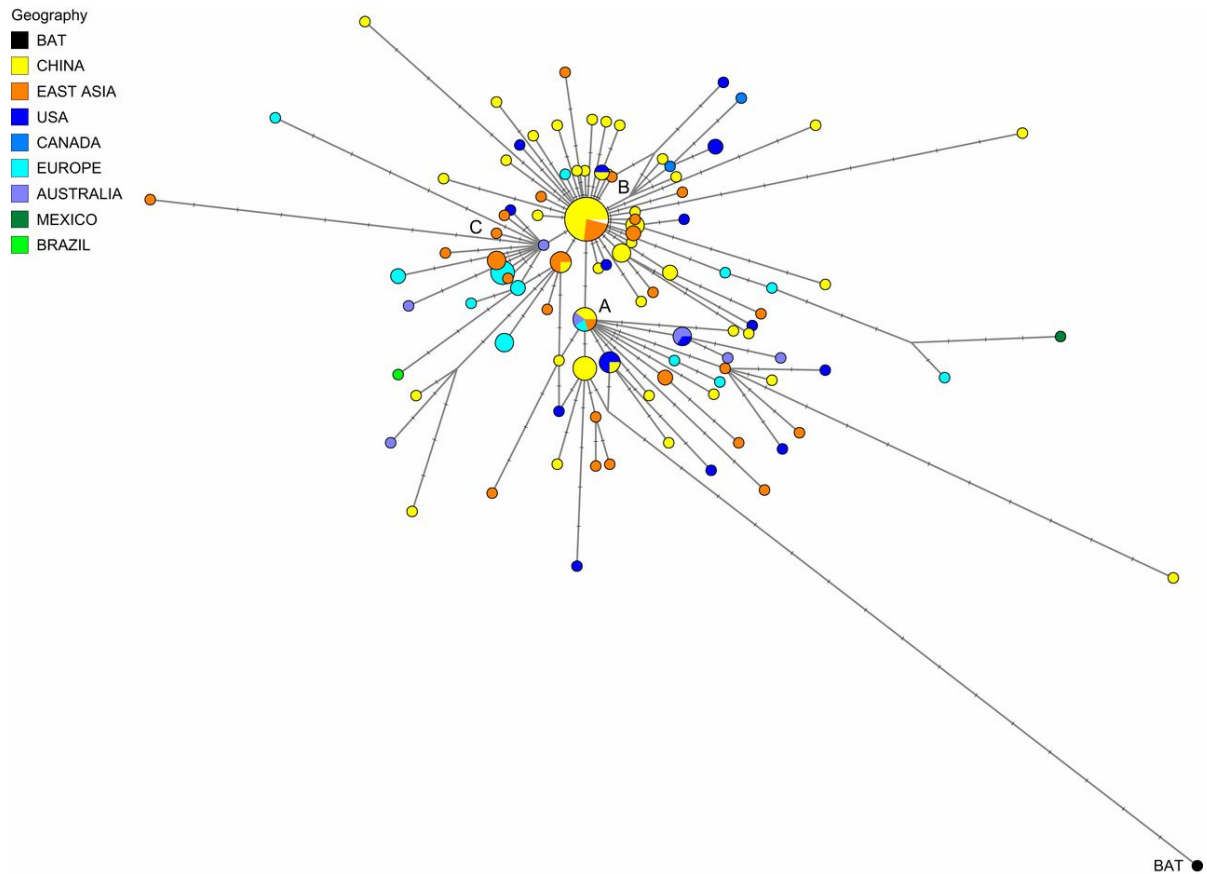

Me: Hmmm. Got any proof of that? No matter; onwards again.

This is Forster et al.'s result in 'graphic' form (1st mentioned by Levtraro; thnx):

Note that it shows a v.long way from bat to “A” but AFAIK, nobody has presented any proof that “A” first appeared in the US, although on another ‘hand,’ we have ‘heard’ that of 5 versions, only the US hosts all of those 5.

‘At any crime-scene, one may consider means, motive and opportunity, but a more complete list includes premeditation, presence, any modus operandi and cui bono?’

There are at most 3 countries as suspects, all of which have hi-power bio-labs; perhaps it comes down to a) motive, b) form, plus c) cui bono? [end repeat]

4th, although IMHO a ‘last resort’ medium, 2 videos:

Watch Video At: <https://youtu.be/AQQf2yoymuo>

[may be available here:]

<https://web.archive.org/web/20200423105040/http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ge33OP-8rU4>

The 'upshot' of the work of Forster et al. presented in these videos is amongst others these two:

1. The earliest possible 'emergence' of SARS-CoV-2 @ 95% confidence = 13Sep'19 to 07Dec'19 and
2. That emergence came in sequential stages, named A, B & C (see diagram above.)

The A-form was not predominant in China, rather the B-form and then the C-form outside of China.

A 'notable,' isolated A-form case was localised to a place 50km SE of Wuhan; this revelation possibly led to Forster being subsequently ignored/suppressed.

Comment: I think that Forster was 'censured' [= silenced] for this by his institution [and possibly other interference] = corrupt academe/society. rgds

Just exactly how the 'span flu' transpired, long before media talked about it, the flu was rampant at mid-west USA mil bases, entire boxcars of soldiers were blue on arrival at ports and then shipped abroad in container-ships where the infected locals all over the world during WW1

Span-Flu history books show that more MIL died from the flu during WW1, than actual combat in the trenches.

But like now the entire world except SPAIN refuse to discuss the 'flu' so because only spain reported it was dubbed the span-flu

now here in asia, it was in the media around nov-2019, but it really hit big all over china post jan-2019 when all the factory girls from MILAN went home for spring-fest, the wuhan market was closed and burnt to the ground and wuhan city was contained, but it didn't help because all those chinese girls were broadly dispersed

the other angle in Italy is all these girls to supplemental sex work with old italian men to make up for low pay in Italy, so huge number of old italian men from Florence to Milan were infected and wiped out in the Nov-2019->Feb 2020 window

Same of course for IRAN, they got wiped out in NOV-2019

Let's also remember SUTERRA the ISRAEL/USSA company that make iso-cyanate 'crazy glue' pills that have hooks that stay in lungs and intestines for 1 day 5 years delayed for sterilization or bio-weapon deployment, Israel has been using this tech to sterilize MENA forever

Lastly the DOE angle, DOE's job is security for nukes and power stations and bio-weapons; Best trained men on earth for them to admit they lost some bio-weapon material is telling but IMHO the real story is that of the +72 USA bio-weapon labs it could have been anyone of them that FEDEX'd the material to the MOSSAD for INTL deployment; DOE's job is to prevent THEFT this was an inside total legitimate transfer of bio-weapons.

I'll make a suggestion to Ron and MoonofAlabama and anyone else who presupposes anything negative about China is 'propaganda:'

Focus on the evidence that SarsCov2 was likely modified in a lab.

From there, you should concede a leak from a lab that made genetic modifications to caronaviruses near where the first cases of 'covid' were found is probable.

To answer the headlined question. NO

Still pushing the covid was real bs on here, not surprised. Ron is Rong again it seems

Latest proof there was no covid and thus no leak, the double bluff, is from an excellent article from 21 Century by Michael Bryant proving Italy scamdemic did not happen. He summarizes that three years later the indispensable truth of the Italian story is once you scratch the surface of the official narrative of the pandemic, it turns out to be a bottomless pit of distortions, manipulations and outright lies.

When their local prominent paper revisited numbers, from covid /with covid numbers adjusted from 130,000 to 3,000.

Viral photos of black ominous caskets from Bergamo , stacked high , we're actually photos of caskets of African migrants who drowned in Lampedusa, in 2013.

Any excess deaths in Spring 2020 in N Italy were an artifact of already existing health conditions of an aging population, the obliteration of the existing health care system and infrastructure, massive industrial pollution creating chronic conditions, media generated hysteria, savage govt lockdowns, and administrative murder of the already fragile elderly.

These tragic deaths of the fragile were the result of the social order and public health despotism, and then used to give the impression that there was a deadly virus circulating. Remember Austerity people!! This is the direct result.

The only pandemic was one of a violent govt and biomedical assault against citizens.

The evidence from Italy in 2020 exposes the official Covid narrative for what it was and is, a cold blooded organized deception.

The shot is the weapon, the covid virus does not exist, your DoD ran this psy op , it is not a leak, the Chinese are not the ones who are:

Cutting your children's breast and penis off

Expose children to anal sex acts

Supporting known criminal elements in your society

Not enforcing your border and immigration rules

Not supporting real Nazis , that your greatest generation fought a war against.

“the actual substance provided in the articles seemed extremely thin.” So does the evidence for the Unz Covid Biowarfare Narrative unfortunately.

There’s some discussion in “Unglossed”, the substack written by Brian Mowrey about the EcoHealth project DEFUSE and its attempt to use it as a way to get on the MIC gravy train. See :

<https://unglossed.substack.com/p/i-could-have-darped-all-night>

Mowrey takes the view that the DEFUSE project, letter from Major Murphy etc (the result of a Project Veritas expose operation) were planted beforehand to lend credibility to the lab-leak theory. He considers the fact that since the closest relative to the SARS2 virus is the BANAL genome, which comes from Laos, and that the WIV was only using viruses gathered in Southern China, then the WIV could not have produced the SARS2 virus.

Personally I don’t agree, the DEFUSE project material clearly implicates the US as the progenitor of the virus, and the BANAL virus could have been easily shipped to the WIV for secret work of some type after which it escaped. However whatever the outcome this stuff is at least of more interest than the Unz drivell cloud.

Also don’t forget to watch “Unlocked” (2017), the Hollywood predictive programming movie re virus pandemic hysteria motives. Look for Michael Douglas’s final speech at the end of the film, which is a doozy.

Ron Unz unleashes another verbal sedative. Instead of proposing a theory that relies on incontrovertible facts (no animal reservoir found, artificial nucleotide sequences, our support for gain of function research at the alleged scene of the crime) he proposes a fantasy scenario which, if unsupported by evidence, at least is novel for this website. For once — at least as far as I read — THE JEWS are not responsible. Then again maybe I didn't read far enough.

The furin cleavage site, the HUMAN rather than CORONAVIRUS arginine codons within the furin cleavage site, the optimization of the spike protein for HUMAN ACE2 rather than other species and the lack of intermediate host says that SARS-CoV2 was engineered in a lab. This has been known by any scientist with a brain since February 2020. The continual obfuscation by virologists was to protect their funding and their careers. (Worldometers.info gives total Covid deaths as 6.8 million so far. It is likely that at least a third of those died WITH Covid rather than from Covid; 90% of the Covid deaths are in those 65 or over, the vast majority of Covid deaths are in those over age 80. the most vulnerable of these had one foot in the grave before Covid.)

We don't know which labs were involved in the creation of SARS-CoV2, and it is unlikely that anyone will ever know. Even if not directly involved, the techniques involved are a collaborative effort across virology.

We do know there WERE 46+ US funded bioweapons labs in Ukraine (which Vicky Nuland claims are suddenly dangerous since in Russia's hands). We know that only 39% of Ukrainians are Covid vaccinated (no Biden mandate for them!); 64% of the population of the world is vaccinated. You cannot use vaccinated people to spread Covid as a bioweapon; their spike protein antibodies would select for mutants which probably would defuse the Covid bioweapon strain.

Of course that could all be a coincidence. A virus that pretty much targets the elderly and sick would only be a bioweapon if delivered preferentially to leaders who tend to be old and sick.

I see many people on this site making assertions ... but I labor in vain to find trustworthy evidence in support of them.

No evidence will ever be found sufficiently trustworthy until a person ceases to believe the central deception of the covid hoax: namely, that a flu virus threatened the entire world and that the only way to prevent it from killing everybody was to prohibit medical use of HCQ and ivermectin (with being stricken from the medical rolls as the minimum penalty for a physician's disobedience) and to solemnly warn people of the dangers of zinc, selenium, and vitamins C and D.

| There is always one possibility that is not allowed to ever be discussed or written about. That is the conclusion that was the US that was at fault .

Wrong. The conclusion no one is allowed to discuss is there is no such thing as a virus. Germ Theory, where the pathogen “virus” originates from, was invented in the 1880’s. As you should know, Germ Theory states that a virus can only be seen with an “electron microscope”. The electron microscope wasn’t invented until the 1930’s.

No virus BUT there are pathogens (bacteria, fungi, parasites), proteins and chemical toxins which can be weaponized so Ron’s theory still stands sans “virus” weapon.

Ron, you should listen to this short six minute video by Dr David Martin. He is coming close to having the same opinion of the covid origin as you, except he focuses on the gain of function research that weaponized the virus as being funded by Anthony Fauci. He doesn't quite say it was deliberately introduced, but it is implied. Maybe the two of you should get together and have a discussion.

I also believed wholesale so much else that has since turned out not to be as I was told it was by NPR, MSNBC and The New York Times.

I hope that ron has the fore site to leave this site to Mike Whitney, Laurent Guyenot or Andrew Anglin in case the fauci death inoculation takes him to an early grave. I worry about that. If ron suffers from a sudden death coincidence (nothing to see here) who will control this site? Well let's just hope that it becomes the Whitney, Guyenot or Anglin review.

No-one ever mentions the USA's MASSIVE bio-warfare efforts. You don't maintain scores of labs around the world, have your teams expelled from India after 'prospecting' for bat viruses like Nipah, without bothering to get Indian permission, single-handedly obstruct the Bio-weapons Treaty Inspections regime for twenty years etc, etc, etc, if you are only interested in 'defence'.

But as far as the filth of the Western political and MSM sewer are concerned, ONLY the Evil Yellow Devils have bio-labs and research viruses. The vermin here in Austfalia are goading one another into a real FRENZY of race hatred, ever growing. As ever not a single murmur of dissent is allowed in the 'Free Press'.

The outright banning of safe, effective, cheap early treatments, unknown previously, the totalitarian banning of medical and scientific debate and evidence, also previously unknown, and the FORCED vaccination program, at the risk of job loss and travel bans, in direct contradiction of the Nuremberg Laws and all previous declarations of medical bio-ethics, makes me certain that this is all about the mRNA gene therapy injections. To what end? I think, now that we know how dangerous these shots are, the answer on the balance of probabilities is plain. Time will tell. Next stop-H5N1.
